Butterfield Dining Table

The top of this elegant and complex design is both concave and convex shaped. This table was designed by the renowned, New York design firm, Robert A.M. Stern Architects. Bordered with Rosewood veneer and black inlay lines, the corners are canted and feature double legs. Complex design details include a fluted apron that is also concave and convex. The eight pentagon-shaped legs taper and terminate in satin brass feet. Two 16” leaves are standard. Also available as a Table Desk with a leather inset top, and no leaves (41-019).
