On May 24, 2023, the Liquor Cannabis Board filed the CR 101 (Pre-proposal Statement of Inquiry) regarding the 2023 Liquor Legislation Implementation Rules Project. This rules project is underway and is meant to create rules in Title 314 WAC where necessary to implement three pieces of legislation passed during the 2023 legislative session.

Here you will find proposed rules to implement Engrossed Substitute House Bill (ESHB) 1731, chapter 257, Laws of 2023. Currently, rulemaking does not appear to be necessary on the other two pieces of legislation.

Please provide any feedback on these rules by Monday, July 17, 2023 as follows:

| Ramona Leber, ramona.leber@cni.net | 7/17/2023, 5:59 AM | Dear Rules Coordinator:Thank you for the opportunity to comment on LCB's rulemaking on HB 1731, Distribution of wine to guests of short-term rentals.I had a recent experience at a vacation rental in Lakewood where a bottle of wine was on the kitchen counter for our use. We never saw the owner-operator on site.The rules that have been drafted seem to be clear, complete, and appropriate as far as they go. I understand that there will be little enforcement available for this, so the next best thing is an accountability piece. It could be something as simple as an annual report of the number of bottles of wine distributed to guests or a requirement to have the guest sign a log that includes a guest's name and age, date, time, and signature with the log being submitted to LCB annually.Thank you.Ramona Leber, Treasurer and Founding MemberWashington Association for Substance Misuse and Violence Prevention360-261-3971 | 7/19/2023, 8:45 AM | Dear Ramona:Thank you so much for providing your comment on Draft Rules on 2023 Liquor Legislation Implementation. Your input is valuable and we look forward to reviewing your feedback. If we have any questions we will follow up by email.The Washington State Liquor and Cannabis Board (LCB) relies on public feedback, and welcomes the opportunity to hear more from you! Public participation helps LCB develop inclusive, transparent, and accountable policies and rules that serve the public interest.I will certainly follow up with the team regarding some kind of measure to get numbers on how much this endorsement is being used, as that sounds like valuable data that we can use for future rulemaking, thanks so much for the suggestion.Please visit the LCB's website for more information about 2023 Liquor Legislation Implementation and other current rulemaking activities. To get timely updates from LCB, please sign up to be on our GovDelivery email distribution list (select the Rulemaking option along with any other topic of interest).The LCB Board holds public meetings on Wednesdays at 10 a.m., twice monthly. Held both virtually and in-person, the meetings provide an opportunity for members of the public to address Board members during the Public Comment agenda item, or during scheduled Public Hearings held during the Board meetings. Board meetings are also broadcast live on the state's public access TV station TVW. |
