Independent Auditors' Review Report

To the Board of Directors and Shareholders, Phihong Technology Co., Ltd.

Introduction

We have reviewed the accompanying consolidated balance sheets of Phihong Technology Co., Ltd. and subsidiaries as of June 30, 2026 and 2025, and the consolidated statements of comprehensive income for the three months and the six months ended June 30, 2026 and 2025, as well as the consolidated statements of changes in equity and the consolidated statements of cash flows for the six months ended June 30, 2026 and 2025, and the notes to the consolidated financial statements (including a summary of significant accounting policies). Management is responsible for the fair presentation of the consolidated financial statements in accordance with the Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Securities Issuers and International Accounting Standard 34 "Interim Financial Reporting" as endorsed and issued into effect by the Financial Supervisory Commission of the Republic of China. Our responsibility is to express a conclusion on the consolidated financial statements based on our reviews.

Scope

Except as explained in the Basis for Qualified Conclusion section, we conducted our reviews in accordance with Standard on Review Engagements No. 2410 "Review of Financial Statements." A review of consolidated financial statements consists of making inquiries, primarily of persons responsible for financial and accounting matters, and applying analytical and other review procedures. A review is substantially less in scope than an audit and consequently does not enable us to obtain assurance that we would become aware of all significant matters that might be identified in an audit. Accordingly, we do not express an audit opinion.

Basis for Qualified Conclusion

As described in Note 13 to the consolidated financial statements, investments accounted for using the equity method by Phihong Technology Co., Ltd. and subsidiaries amounted to NT$84,251 thousand and NT$68,669 thousand as of June 30, 2026 and 2025, respectively. The shares of comprehensive income (loss) of associates accounted for using the equity method recognized for the three months and the six months ended June 30, 2026 and 2025 amounted to loss of NT$ (1,777) thousand, loss of NT$ (605) thousand, gain of NT$1,638 thousand and loss of NT$ (2,711) thousand, respectively. Such amounts were based on the investees' financial statements for the respective periods that had not been reviewed by independent auditors.

Qualified Conclusion

Based on our reviews and the review reports of other independent auditors (please refer to the Other Matter section), except for such adjustments, if any, as might have been determined to be necessary had the financial statements of the equity-method investees described in the Basis for Qualified Conclusion section been reviewed by independent auditors, nothing has come to our attention that caused us to believe that the accompanying consolidated financial statements do not present fairly, in all material respects, the consolidated financial position of Phihong Technology Co., Ltd. and subsidiaries as of June 30, 2026 and 2025, the consolidated financial performance for the three months and the six months ended June 30, 2026 and 2025, and the consolidated cash flows for the six months ended June 30, 2026 and 2025, in accordance with the Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Securities Issuers and International Accounting Standard 34 "Interim Financial Reporting" as endorsed and issued into effect by the Financial Supervisory Commission of the Republic of China.

Other Matter

Certain financial statements of subsidiaries included in the consolidated financial statements of Phihong Technology Co., Ltd. and subsidiaries were not reviewed by us, but were reviewed by other independent auditors. Accordingly, our conclusion on the accompanying consolidated financial statements, insofar as it relates to the amounts included for such subsidiaries, is based solely on the review reports of the other independent auditors. The total assets of the aforementioned subsidiaries as of June 30, 2026 and 2025 were NT$3,886,964 thousand and NT$3,649,345 thousand, respectively, representing 28.95% and 24.26% of the consolidated total assets, respectively. Their operating revenues for the six-month periods ended June 30, 2026 and 2025 were NT$1,378,669 thousand and NT$1,380,395 thousand, respectively, representing 31.85% and 29.53% of the consolidated operating revenues, respectively.

The engagement partners on the reviews resulting in this independent auditors' review report are Chih-Yi Chang and Kuo-Tien Hung.

Phihong Technology Co., Ltd. (formerly known as Phihong Enterprise Co., Ltd.) was incorporated on December 12, 1972. In June 2003, the shareholders resolved to officially rename the Company as Phihong Technology Co., Ltd. (hereinafter referred to as "Phihong" or the "Company"). The Company is principally engaged in the research and development, design, manufacture and sale of power transformers and EV charging stations.

The shares of Phihong Technology Co., Ltd. commenced trading on the Taipei Exchange in February 2000 and were subsequently listed on the Taiwan Stock Exchange in September 2001.

The consolidated financial statements are presented in New Taiwan Dollars, which is the functional currency of the Company.

2. The Approval of Financial Statements

The consolidated financial statements were approved by the Board of Directors on August 12, 2026.

3. Application of New and Revised International Financial Reporting Standards

(1) Initial application of the Financial Supervisory Commission (hereinafter referred to as the "FSC") approved and effective International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS), International Accounting Standards (IAS), IFRIC Interpretations (IFRIC), and SIC Interpretations (SIC) (hereinafter referred to as "IFRSs")

The application of IFRSs endorsed and issued into effect by the Financial Supervisory Commission (FSC) is not expected to have a material impact on the accounting policies of the Company and subsidiaries (hereinafter referred to as the "Group")

(2) IFRS accounting standards approved by the FSC, which will be effective in 2027

New, Revised or Amended Standards and Interpretations	Effective Date Issued by IASB (Note 1)
IFRS 18 "Presentation and Disclosure in Financial Statements"	Jan. 1, 2027 (Note 1)

New, Revised or Amended Standards and Interpretations	Effective Date Issued by IASB (Note 1)
IFRS 19 "Subsidiaries Without Public Accountability: Disclosures" (including the 2025 amendments)	Jan. 1, 2027
Amendments to IAS 21 "Translation to a Hyperinflationary Presentation Currency"	Jan. 1, 2027
Amendments to IAS 28 "Fair Value Option for Investments in Associates and Joint Ventures"	Jan. 1, 2027 (Note 2)

Note 1: Domestic enterprises shall apply IFRS 18 from January 1, 2028, and may also apply earlier.

Note 2: These amendments shall be applied concurrently with the application of IFRS 18.

IFRS 18 "Presentation and Disclosure in Financial Statements" and Related Amendments, and Amendments to IAS 28 "Fair Value Option for Investments in Associates and Joint Ventures"

IFRS 18 will replace IAS 1 "Presentation of Financial Statements." The major changes under the new standard include the following:

- The Group shall assess whether it has specific major business activities involving investing in particular types of assets and providing financing to customers and accordingly classify income and expense items in the statement of profit or loss into operating, investing, financing, income tax and discontinued operations categories.
- The statement of profit or loss shall present subtotals and totals for operating profit or loss, profit or loss before financing and income taxes, and profit or loss.
- Guidance is provided to strengthen requirements of aggregation and disaggregation: The Group shall identify assets, liabilities, equity, income, expenses and cash flows arising from individual transactions or other events and classify and aggregate them based on shared characteristics, so that each line item presented in the primary financial statements has at least one similar characteristic. Items with dissimilar characteristics shall be disaggregated in the primary financial statements and notes. The Group shall label such items as "other" only if it cannot identify a more informative description.

- Additional disclosures on management-defined performance measures: When the Group publicly communicates management's view of an aspect of the Group's overall financial performance outside the financial statements and communicates such measures to users of the financial statements, it shall disclose in a single note to the financial statements information related to management-defined performance measures, including a description of the measure, how it is calculated, reconciliations to subtotals or totals specified by IFRS Accounting Standards, and the related income tax and non-controlling interest effects of the reconciling items.

Upon initial application of IFRS 18, a venture capital organization, or a mutual fund, unit trust, or similar entity (or indirectly through such entities), may elect to change the measurement of its investments in associates or joint ventures from the equity method to fair value through profit or loss. The amendment to IAS 28 clarifies that the aforementioned "similar entities" include entities that have investing in specific types of assets as their principal business activity when assessed under IFRS 18. If the Group meets the aforementioned conditions, it may elect to make this change on the date of initial application.

In addition, the following consequential amendments were made to IAS 7 "Statement of Cash Flows":

- When the Group uses the indirect method to prepare cash flows from operating activities, operating profit or loss shall be used as the starting point for reconciliation.
- Interest and dividends received by the Group shall be classified as investing activities, while interest and dividends paid shall be classified as financing activities. If the Group determines that it has specific major business activities, it shall consider the categories in which dividend income, interest income and interest expense are presented in the statement of profit or loss in determining the classification of dividends received, interest received and interest paid in the statement of cash flows. However, each of the aforementioned cash flows shall be classified into only one category in the statement of cash flows.

Except for the impacts described above, as of the date the consolidated financial statements were authorized for issue, the Group is still continuously assessing the possible impact of amendments to other standards and interpretations on its financial position and financial performance. The related impacts will be disclosed upon completion of the assessment.

(3) New IFRSs in issue but not yet endorsed and issued into effect by the FSC

4. Summary of Material Accounting Policies

(1) Statement of compliance

These consolidated financial statements have been prepared in accordance with the Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Securities Issuers and IAS 34 "Interim Financial Reporting" as endorsed and issued into effect by the Financial Supervisory Commission. These consolidated financial statements do not include all IFRS Accounting Standard disclosures required for a complete set of annual financial statements.

(2) Basis of preparation

Except for financial instruments measured at fair value and net defined benefit liabilities recognized at the present value of defined benefit obligations less the fair value of plan assets, these consolidated financial statements have been prepared on a historical cost basis.

Fair value measurement can be classified as level 1 to level 3 according to the observable degrees and importance of the relevant input values:

1. Level 1 input value: It refers to the quoted price at the active market on the same asset or liability available on the measurement day (unadjusted).

2. Level 2 input value: It refers to the direct (that is the price) or indirect (inferred from the price) observable input values on asset or liability other than the level 1 quoted price.
3. Level 3 input value: Unobservable input value of asset or liability.

(3) Basis of Consolidation

These consolidated financial statements incorporate the financial statements of Phihong Technology Co., Ltd. and the entities controlled by Phihong Technology Co., Ltd. (subsidiaries). The consolidated statements of comprehensive income include the operating results of acquired or disposed subsidiaries from the acquisition date or up to the disposal date during the current period. The financial statements of subsidiaries have been adjusted, where necessary, to align their accounting policies with those of the Group. All intercompany transactions, account balances, income and expenses have been eliminated in full upon consolidation. Total comprehensive income of subsidiaries is attributed to the owners of the Company and to the non-controlling interests, even if the non-controlling interests thereby become deficit balances.

When the change in the ownership interest of the Group in a subsidiary does not result in a loss of control, it is treated as an equity transaction. The difference between the adjusted amount of the non-controlling interests and the fair value of the consideration paid or received is recognized directly in equity. The difference between the adjusted amount of non-controlling interests and the fair value of the consideration paid or received is recognized directly in equity and vested in the owners of the Company.

See Note 12 and Table 7 and 8 for details of subsidiaries, shareholding ratios and operating items.

(4) Other Material Accounting Policies

Except as described below, please refer to the summary of Material accounting policies in the 2025 consolidated financial statements.

1. Retirement Benefits

Pension cost for interim periods is calculated on a year-to-date basis using the actuarially determined pension cost rate at the end of the preceding fiscal year, adjusted for significant market fluctuations during the current period and for significant plan amendments, settlements or other significant one-time events.

2. Other Long-term Employee Benefits

The accounting treatment for other long-term employee benefits is the same as that for defined benefit retirement plans, except that related remeasurements are recognized in profit or loss.

3. Income Tax Expense

Income tax expense represents the sum of current income tax and deferred income tax. Income taxes for interim periods are assessed on an annual basis and calculated by applying the tax rate that would be applicable to expected total annual earnings to the interim pre-tax income.

5. Material Accounting Judgments and Key Sources of Estimation and Uncertainty

When the Group adopts an accounting policy, management must make relevant judgments, estimates, and assumptions of relevant information that is difficult to obtain from other sources based on historical experience and other relevant factors. Actual results may differ from these estimates.

When developing significant accounting estimates, the management will consider the possible impacts on the estimation of cash flows, growth rates, discount rates, profitability, etc., and management will continuously review the estimates and underlying assumptions.

(1) Trade Receivables Measured at Amortized Cost

The average credit period for sales of goods by the Group is determined based on the historical collection experience of trade receivables from non-related parties over the past five years. Trade receivables are non-interest-bearing. The Group's policy is to transact only with reputable counterparties and, where necessary, obtain sufficient collateral to mitigate the risk of financial loss arising from defaults. The Group continuously monitors credit exposure and the credit ratings of counterparties, distributes total transaction amounts among qualified customers with acceptable credit ratings, and controls credit exposure through counterparty credit limits reviewed and approved annually by designated personnel.

The Group recognizes loss allowances for trade receivables based on lifetime expected credit losses. Lifetime expected credit losses are calculated using a provision matrix that considers customers' historical default records, current financial conditions and other forward-looking information. As the Group's historical credit loss experience indicates that loss patterns do not differ significantly among different customer groups, the provision matrix does not further distinguish customer groups and only establishes expected credit loss rates based on the aging of trade receivables past due.

If there is evidence indicating that a counterparty is experiencing severe financial difficulty and the Group has no reasonable expectation of recovering the amount, the Group directly writes off the related trade receivables. However, collection activities will continue, and any amount subsequently recovered are recognized in profit or loss.

The Group measures the loss allowance for trade receivables based on the provision matrix as follows:

June 30, 2026

	Not past due	1-60 days past due	61-90 days past due	91-120 days past due	Over 120 days past due	Total

(2) Trade Receivables Measured at FVTOCI

For trade receivables from certain major customers, the Group may decide, based on working capital conditions, to sell such receivables to banks on a non-recourse basis. The business model adopted by the Group for managing these trade receivables is intended to achieve its objective through both collecting contractual cash flows and selling financial assets. Accordingly, such trade receivables are measured at fair value through other comprehensive income (FVTOCI).

The Group measures the loss allowance for trade receivables measured at FVTOCI based on the provision matrix as follows:

June 30, 2026

When calculating diluted earnings per share prior to the resolution regarding the number of shares to be distributed for employee compensation in the following year, the dilutive effect of such potential ordinary shares is also considered.

28. Government Grants

PHC and PHP received government grants related to energy-saving equipment. Such amounts were deducted from the carrying amount of the related assets and recognized in profit or loss over the useful lives of the assets through reductions in depreciation expense. For the three months and the six months ended June 30, 2026 and 2025, depreciation expense was reduced by NT$461 thousand, NT$509 thousand, NT$959 thousand and NT$1,047 thousand, respectively.

29. Capital Risk Management

The Group manages its capital to ensure that entities within the Group will be able to continue as going concerns while maximizing returns to shareholders through the optimization of debt and equity balances. The overall strategy of the Group remains unchanged.

The capital structure of the Group consists of net debt (i.e., borrowings net of cash and cash equivalents) and equity attributable to owners of the Company (i.e., share capital, capital surplus, retained earnings and other equity items).

The Group is not subject to any externally imposed capital requirements.

(3) Financial Risk Management Objectives and Policies

The Group's major financial instruments include cash and cash equivalents, financial assets at amortized cost, equity instrument investments, contract assets, notes receivable, trade receivables, other receivables, refundable (received) deposits, short-term borrowings, short-term notes and bills payable, contract liabilities, trade payables, trade payables - related parties, other payables, long-term borrowings, bonds payable and lease liabilities. The Group's financial management department provides services to each business unit, coordinates access to domestic and international financial markets, and monitors and manages the financial risks related to the operations of the Group through internal risk reports that analyze exposures based on the degree and extent of risk. Such risks include market risk (including foreign exchange risk and interest rate risk), credit risk and liquidity risk.

1. Market risk

The Group's operating activities expose it primarily to financial risks arising from changes in foreign currency exchange rates (see (1) below) and interest rates (see (2) below).

(1) Foreign Exchange Risk

The Company and its subsidiaries engage in sales and purchase transactions denominated in foreign currencies, which expose the Group to exchange rate fluctuations. After assessing the positions of foreign currency-denominated assets and liabilities, the Group concluded that it is not exposed to significant foreign exchange risk and therefore has not adopted additional hedging arrangements. Accordingly, no related hedge accounting treatment is applied.

For the carrying amounts of the Group's monetary assets and monetary liabilities denominated in non-functional currencies as of the balance sheet date (including non-functional currency-denominated monetary items that have been eliminated in the consolidated financial statements), please refer to Note 34.

Sensitivity Analysis

The Group is mainly exposed to fluctuations in the exchange rates of the USD, RMB and VND.

The following table details the Group's sensitivity to a 1% increase or decrease in the exchange rate of the New Taiwan dollar (the functional currency) against the relevant foreign currencies. The sensitivity analysis includes only outstanding foreign currency-denominated monetary items and adjusts their year-end translation by a 1% change in foreign currency exchange rates. A positive number in the table indicates the amount by which profit (loss) before tax would decrease (increase) when the New Taiwan dollar appreciates by 1% against the relevant currencies. Conversely, when the New Taiwan dollar depreciates by 1% against the relevant foreign currencies, the effect on profit (loss) before tax would be a negative amount of the same magnitude.

USD	$ 2,543	$ 13,406
RMB	(559)	(471)
VND	(300)	(388)

(2) Interest rate risk

The Group's interest rate risk primarily arises from short-term and long-term borrowings with fixed and floating interest rates, short-term notes and bills payable, bonds payable and lease liabilities, exposing the Group to fair value and cash flow interest rate risks.

The carrying amounts of the Group's financial liabilities exposed to interest rate risk as of the balance sheet date are as follows:

	June 30, 2026	Dec. 31, 2025	June 30, 2025
Fair value interest rate risk
－Financial liabilities	$ 1,009,598	$ 885,284	$ 1,348,360
Cash flow interest rate risk
－Financial liabilities	148,667	256,100	1,663,533

Sensitivity Analysis

The following sensitivity analysis is determined based on the interest rate exposure of financial instruments as of the balance sheet date. For floating-rate liabilities, the analysis assumes that the amount of liabilities outstanding as of the balance sheet date was outstanding throughout the reporting period.

Changes in interest rates will not affect its future cash flows or carrying amounts.

If interest rates had increased/decreased by 100 basis points, while all other variables were held constant, the Group's cash outflows/inflows for the six months ended June 30, 2026 and 2025 would have increased/decreased by NT$149 thousand and NT$16,635 thousand, respectively.

2. Credit risk

Credit risk refers to the risk that a counterparty will default on its contractual obligations, resulting in a financial loss to the Group. As of the balance sheet date, the Group's maximum exposure to credit risk that could cause a financial loss due to counterparties' failure to perform obligations primarily arises from the carrying amounts of the financial assets recognized in the consolidated balance sheets.

The Group's policy is to transact only with reputable counterparties and, where necessary, obtain sufficient collateral to mitigate the risk of financial loss arising from defaults. The Group continuously monitors credit exposure and counterparties' credit ratings, distributes total transaction amounts among customers with qualified credit ratings, and controls credit exposure through counterparty credit limits reviewed and approved annually by designated personnel.

Trade receivables are due from a large number of customers across various industries and geographic regions. The Group continuously evaluates the financial condition of its customers with trade receivables and, when necessary, purchases credit guarantee insurance contracts.

3. Liquidity risk

The Group manages and maintains sufficient levels of cash and cash equivalents to support Group operations and mitigate the impact of fluctuations in cash flows. Management of the Group monitors the utilization of bank financing facilities and ensures compliance with the terms of borrowing agreements.

Bank borrowings are an important source of liquidity for the Group. As of June 30, 2026 and 2025, the Group's unused financing facilities are described in (2) Financing Facilities below.

(1) Liquidity and interest rate risk of non-derivative financial liabilities

The maturity analysis of the remaining non-derivative financial liability contracts is based on the undiscounted cash flows (including principal and estimated interest) of the financial liability based on the earliest possible date the Group may be required to repay the loan. Therefore, bank loans that the Group may be required to repay immediately are listed in the table below for the earliest period, without considering the probability that the bank will immediately enforce the right; the maturity analysis of other non-derivative financial liabilities is prepared based on the contractual repayment dates.
