MILITARE

Green is one of my favourite colours, a preference I seem to share with Nature which bathe plants with thousands of different shades of it. I also find military gear fascinating, as the military spares no costs and commissions high quality, well designed and practical products. I go to military surplus stores whenever I get a chance, and online, to source great looking pieces to use. This particular chair is the first attempt to make such furniture and holds a dear place in my heart. Whenever possible I have made sure that the original functionality of the pieces remains intact, and, at times made adjustments for the sake of practicality.
