

Victory Networks to offer almax analytics Artificial Intelligence for capital markets

First Published 9th February 2016

Tech provider for CME Group, Nasdaq, CBOE, Goldman Sachs, BATS, NYSE, ABN AMRO, Bank of America Merrill Lynch and proprietary trading funds to deploy predictive analytics for equities.

Real-time Data
Networks
Analytics

London - almax analytics, artificial intelligence for capital markets, has announced that Victory Networks, the managed services provider for all asset classes, has introduced Artificial Intelligence (AI) for news and insights to its market maker customer Sumo Capital. almax analytics functions like the human brain, putting the content of news into context to existing relevant information.

"We strategically identified Victory Networks for USA testing based on their customer and partner base of Clearing firms, exchanges, and proprietary trading firms such as SUMO Capital, one of the leading market makers on CBOE," says Balazs Klemm, Chief Executive and Founder of almax analytics. "almax analytics is pleased to have our technology covered in a series of news updates as we believe the driving factor for customer satisfaction is experience in real-time."

"Victory Networks works hard to offer the most innovative and disruptive technologies to our trading and analyst customer base; almax analytics helps solves the rapidly growing industry conundrum of Big Data management and processing," says John Superson, Chief Executive of Victory Networks. "Our customers seek to always generate significant alpha and more critically, to avoid risks and to be more efficient. Gaining the ability for precision trading decisions with news and insights will prove to be advantageous."

Add your Company to AlgoWorld

Perseus goes live with wireless connections in London metro

First high-speed wireless network connects financial markets from Slough to Basildon, claims 40% reduction in latency....continued

Tradeweb SEF completes first swaps-compression trade

Tradeweb Markets completes first fully-electronic compression transaction of cleared derivatives trades on its swap execution facility....continued

MarketAxess SEF confirms compliance

MarketAxess SEF confirms compliance with impartial access in line with November 14, 2013 CFTC staff guidance....continued

GLOBAL
macro

TRADER

John Superson, Victory Networks

"almax analytics helps solves the rapidly growing industry conundrum of Big Data management and processing."

Copyright © Automated Trader Ltd 2016 - The Gateway to Algorithmic and Automated Trading

Cookie Policy Privacy Policy Sitemap Global Macro Trader Web Design by Johnny Vibrant