

INTERNATIONAL
HUMAN RIGHTS
EXCHANGE

UNIVERSITY OF THE WITWATERSRAND, JOHANNESBURG

~GUEST LECTURE SERIES~

presents:

Dr. Nadia Bernaz,

Senior Lecturer & Leader, MA Human Rights and Business & PhD Programme
Middlesex University School of Law

In a discussion of the topic:

"Should Multinational Corporations be Held Liable for Having Done Business with the Apartheid Regime?"

Dr. Nadia Bernaz is Senior Lecturer in Law at Middlesex University, Programme leader of the pioneering MA Human Rights & Business and Adjunct Lecturer of the Irish Centre for Human Rights. She holds a PhD in International Law from Paul Cézanne University (Aix-Marseilles, France). She has extensive teaching & research experience in comparative constitutional law, public international law, international criminal law & human rights law, as well as a range of publications in these areas. Her current research focuses on human rights and business, particularly issues such as corporate complicity in human rights violations, & United Nations work on business and human rights.

Date: 16 October 2013

Time: 1415-1530hrs

Venue: Senate Room (Senate House, Second Floor)

*For further information please contact us:
011 717 4332/1068*

Thabisani.ndlovu@wits.ac.za/shingirai.taodzera@wits.ac.za

