Dear State Parks,

Is it really necessary to close the Oceano SVRA? I've been out there many times to enjoy the dunes, make friends, and have fun. I've taken many friends and family there. I understand that some special interest group is pushing to close the park. Why now? What do they have to gain? Please investigate the validity of silica coming from the SVRA and what impact does the marine biological material coming from the ocean have on all the air monitoring data? What percentage of dust is coming from the SVRA? This is a very small percentage of the vast coastline that is accessible to vehicles. Please don't close it.
