

From: Lilly Erpenbach
To: Gary Willey; secretary@resources.ca.gov; Lisa.Mangat@parks.ca.gov; Mat.Fuzie@parks.ca.gov; John.Ainsworth@coastal.ca.gov; info@slocleanair.org; jim@oceanodunes.org
Subject: Closure of the oceano dunes..
Date: Monday, March 19, 2018 7:17:00 PM

Home; noun, a place where one lives. Many have homes, and many don't. Sure this is only one definition of a "home", but we all put our own meaning to the word home. Home is a place where one feels welcomed, cause many do not get the opportunity to feel this. Home is somewhere you go that clears your thousands of thoughts. Home clears your negative thoughts and fills them with millions of positive ones. You see a "home" is a feeling, a home isn't always the place in which you live. My home is a beautiful place. A place where others and myself feel safe. A place of community, adventures, and all love. I love my home. And I hate that people are trying to take it away. Home, the Oceano Dunes. The dunes are all apart of us. Put aside all the money it makes our community to expand and develop, the Oceano Dunes is a place of love, community, welcomeness, and hope. Hope for many experiencing difficulties. Oceano Dunes is HOME. I am one person out of hundreds trying to voice my opinion. One in a sea of many. You see taking away our home for no reason is absolutely obscured. I have grown up here all my life, to live in a place people vacation is a privilege. It is a privilege to live here. And if you don't like our riding area, either suck it up, or move. It is that simple. You choose to live here, and obviously if it is an issue for you, you truly are not living on the central coast for the right reasons. How would you feel if I came up to your door and told you we are taking half or more of your home away. Putting orange fences through half of it, so you can sit and admire these fences for the rest of your time. Oh, is something meaning of yours on the other side? Well that sucks for you. Many memories you can't get back, for no reason. Is that fair to you, no absolutely not. You pay to live there, we respect your home, respect ours. Stop blaming others for things we can't control. It's like looking up at the clouds when its raining and saying stop raining. You can't control that regardless of your stupid actions trying to do so. Move on, or move away.

Sincerely a very disappointed and frustrated citizen and FoOd member,
Lilly Erpenbach

♥Lilly Erpenbach ♥