I grew up in Provence and have lived in Loiret for 20 years. Since childhood I have been passionate about painting. Self-taught, my commitment to painting goes back some 20 years. I went to art workshops for 15 years to practice pastels and watercolours. I was naturally attracted to oil painting and painting with inks for the magic of colours and infinite effects. In constant search of light these last years, I have taken advice from well-known artists in order to develop my own style with spontaneity and imagination and not to be limited by convention.

Today, this new vision of my work allows me to indulge my emotions, said and unsaid, visible and invisible with complete sincerity.

My work has evolved gradually towards abstract painting in which I find a balance between letting go and reflection.

Viewers may find my work evokes different emotions which are personal to them.

Currently I am exhibiting in France and also in Austria and Belgium.

“ La peinture fait obstacle à la vision pour mieux capter l’invisible” George Perros

(Painting makes an obstacle to the vision in order to better identify the invisible.)
