Quantum Edge Steel Perimeter Innerspring

QUANTUM®
EDGE

STEEL PERIMETER

Testing shows Quantum® Edge Steel Perimeter units require less force to bend, making them more compatible with adjustable bases than traditional foam-encased innerspring units.

- Revolutionary, narrow-diameter Quantum® coils form a perimeter around the mattress, providing comfortable support all the way to the edge of the bed.
- Articulates 24% better than foam encasing, great for use on an adjustable base.
- Fabric encased coils provide superior motion separation and conformability
- 968 coils in a queen size set

Mygel Memory Foam

Compression packed beds allow retailers to maintain higher inventory levels while taking up less space in their DC's. In addition, by compressing the beds, consumers are delivered a very consistent feel from what they lay on in the showrooms.

Sierra Sleep uses 30% castor seed oil in lieu of petroleum which provides a better carbon foot print than most memory foam products in the market place.

Green tea extract is added to the memory foam formula of all Sierra Sleep specialty beds. The green tea acts as a breath of fresh air and aids in the elimination of petroleum odors often associated with memory foam products.

Charcoal is infused into Sierra Sleep memory foam during production. This process is proven to reduce the amount of petroleum odor often associated with competitors products.

CertiPUR-US® approved foams are: Made without chemicals associated with ozone depletion. Made without PBDE flame retardants. Made without mercury, lead and other heavy metals. Made without formaldehyde.
