Other Information:

Todd Ruggirello was born and raised in El Paso, Texas, and has been playing basketball in some fashion since he could walk. After four years of success with the Coronado High School basketball program, Todd attended the University of Texas at El Paso (UTEP) where a knee injury ended his playing career. Todd joined the staff of the UTEP Lady Miners as an assistant coach under Head Coach, Sandra Rushing, and Assistant, Jason Conner. Within a three year period, the staff was able to turn a last place program around and contend for a Western Athletic Conference title. During his years at UTEP, Todd also had the opportunity to mentor under the legendary Hall of Fame coach, Don Haskins.

Todd has worked numerous summer basketball camps as well as volunteering to help coach at the high school level. This will be Todd's second season with the Austin Lady Magic and he looks forward to working alongside and with the talented coaches and players.
