We know that good sleep is a vital ingredient for your health and well being; you should give yourself the best sleep possible! Around the world Mazon owners are enjoying their best night's sleep every night thanks to the unique properties and benefits of the Mazon Visco material.

Mazon Mattresses are made of a high density, open cell material; that contours to pressure and responds to temperature, providing a feeling of weightlessness. This combination of responsive qualities effectively relieves pressure from your back, neck, shoulders, legs and feet, giving a new meaning to sleep.

A breakthrough in technology! The pressure relieving Visco Elastic material was originally developed for NASA, USA as a cushioning material to relieve body pressure points during long space shuttle flights.
