Local Scenes on Display at Vintology Wine

Art comes to Vintology Wine & Spirits in Scarsdale once again! Recognizable scenes of Grand Central and bucolic northern Westchester are on display in “Images by Jay Cohen”.

Jay Cohen is an award-winning amateur photographer living in Scarsdale. He is passionate about capturing the beauty of our local region, and his work focuses on landscapes and cityscapes. Jay is the contributing photographer for Scarsdale Hamlethub and he’s been featured in Shot! Magazine and on Fotoblur.com.

“Images by Jay Cohen” is the tenth art show at Vintology Wine & Spirits. The wine boutique offered to present a local artist’s work in 2012, and discovered customers enjoyed the complementary experiences of viewing art and shopping for wine. Mr. Cohen’s show has received enthusiastic response, and has already garnered record art sales.

All profits of the show benefit the Coachman Family Center homeless shelter in White Plains which provides advocacy and benefits assistance, life skills training, education and career counseling, assistance in finding affordable housing and a host of other services.

In addition to various framed and metal prints, Mr. Cohen also has his photography book, Scarsdale Scenes, on hand for view and purchase.

“Images by Jay Cohen” is on display at Vintology, located at 2 Palmer Avenue in Scarsdale, Monday through Saturday from 10am-8pm, and Sundays from 12-5pm.
