Dear Human Resource Manager,

The attached resume is in reference to your open position you have on your website.

As a dedicated financial director executive, I have built a successful career around my ability to assess and anticipate needs, identify unique alternatives, and develop and implement long-term solutions. I demonstrate a positive background in team formation, corporate communications, resource allocation, efficiency improvements, diplomatic problem resolution and organizational networking initiatives.

I am a successful senior management with experience in corporate finance, general accounting, financial operations, performance management and process improvements with regional institutions.

I exemplify seasoned leadership skills in multi-account management, program implementation and budget administration in stable, growth-oriented settings.

I believe that you will find my unique blend of core business management skills, functional experience, and technical knowledge makes me an ideal candidate for business position. Throughout my career, I have competently balanced my strong analytical skills with equally strong interpersonal skills and tactical leadership, which allow me to build consensus and initiate new programs and processes that empower top-performing teams.

My resume will provide you with additional information about my skills and background.

Thank you for your time and consideration.
