MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

Dear AKPS Members,

The past two years have gone by quickly and this is my last newsletter as my time as president comes to an end. It has been a privilege to serve AKPS, and I am grateful for having had the opportunity to work with many fine people who have helped me during the past two years. Thus, it is with great pleasure I announce the next team of officers who will lead AKPS: the next President will be Professor Jungmin Seo (University of Hawaii at Manoa) and the next Vice President will be Professor Haesook Chae (Baldwin-Wallace College). They will begin their term at the end of our business meeting at the APSA conference in Toronto. The organization will be in excellent hands with these leaders at the helm.

I wish to express my deepest appreciation to Professor Seo and Professor Chae as Vice President and Secretary/Treasurer respectively, for their hard work during my term. The past two years have been a team effort and their assistance is greatly appreciated. Also, I want to thank the Governing Board for their service to AKPS.

AKPS had another successful run at the International Studies Association meeting in New York hosting three panels. Many thanks to Professor Taehyun Nam (Salisbury University), our program chair, for his excellent organization of the panels and for arranging an outstanding restaurant for our dinner gathering.

Preparations continue for the next APSA meeting in Toronto. Our APSA program chair, Professor Jae-Jung Suh (SAIS – Johns Hopkins University) has been working hard to put together several excellent panels. Graduate students, be sure to apply for the graduate student travel grant for APSA. The application form can be found on our website (www.akps.org).

The syllabus project continues to grow. Thank you to those who have contributed their syllabi. The syllabi are posted to our website and further contributions are always welcome. The details for submitting syllabi are included later in the newsletter.

As always, if there is anything AKPS can do to help you in your work or if you have any ideas for activities the organization could undertake, do not hesitate to contact me. Wishing you all the best for an enjoyable and productive summer.

Terry Roehrig

President, AKPS
Associate Professor, U.S Naval War College

PROFESSOR GEORGE TOTTEN III – IN MEMORIUM

It is with great sadness we report the passing of Professor George Totten III, a long-time member of AKPS. Professor Totten received an MA from Columbia University and a PhD from Yale University. After teaching at Columbia, MIT, and Michigan State University, among others, he moved to the University of Southern California where he taught for 27 years. In 1992, Professor Totten retired as Distinguished Professor Emeritus of Political Science and Director of the USC Korea Project. After retirement, he continued to work to achieve his goal of promoting the Romanization of Asian languages. He leaves 4 final projects which remain incomplete. Before he passed, he wanted to ask his friends and colleagues if there were any who could possibly see these projects to completion. Professor Totten's passing is a great loss, and he will be missed. A memorial will be held for him in Los Angeles during the summer. If you would like further information regarding the service or the projects, contact Vicken Totten at Vicken.Totten@case.edu.

2009 ISA – CALL FOR PAPERS

Deadline: May 18, 2009

The 51st Annual Convention of International Studies Association will be held in New Orleans, February 17-20, 2010. The Association of Korean Political Studies (AKPS) is seeking paper proposals and volunteers to serve as panel chairs and paper discussants. Co-authored papers are also welcome.

Papers on any aspect of Korea's foreign relations and domestic politics are acceptable. Paper proposals should include paper title, abstract (less than 500 words), name of author, address, phone & fax number, email address, and institutional affiliation.

Please submit proposals by May 18, 2009. Proposals should be submitted through email only. Please include your proposal in the text body of your email, not in an attachment. Note that all presenters must be dues-paying members of the AKPS (can join upon having your paper accepted).

SYLLABI PROJECT

In addition to our mission of promoting scholarship on Korean political studies, we also believe that AKPS can help to promote teaching about Korea and/or East Asia. Increasingly, colleges and universities are including courses on Korean and/or East Asian Politics in their curriculum and AKPS can help to facilitate the sharing of information in this effort. East Asia is included here because the reality is that there are relatively few courses devoted solely to Korea but there may be a substantial part of an East Asian politics course devoted to Korean issues.

Thus, AKPS continues its project to collect syllabi from members for courses, both undergraduate and graduate, on Korean politics and foreign relations along with relevant East Asian courses that contain a significant (broadly defined) portion of Korea material. After organizing and formatting the submissions, we will post them to the AKPS website (www.akps.org) for faculty to consult if they are looking for syllabi, textbooks, and course ideas.

If you have syllabi that might be of interest, please send them electronically to Terry Roehrig, (terence.roehrig@usnwc.edu or tjroehrig@gmail.com) in MS Word format. This will be an ongoing project so as you develop new courses in the future that might be of interest, be sure to forward an electronic copy to Professor Roehrig. If you have any questions or concerns, please contact him at one of these email addresses or at 401-841-7509. Many thanks for your help in promoting the teaching of Korea.

CALL FOR MANUSCRIPTS

Asian Politics & Policy (APP) is a peer-reviewed English journal devoted to the study of contemporary Asia. Sponsored by the Policy Studies Organization, a related organization of the American Political Science Association (APSA) and the International Studies Association (ISA), the journal is published quarterly by Wiley-Blackwell Publishing. The inaugural January - March 2009 issue is available now. The objective of the journal is to inform readers of political dynamics and policy innovations in Asia, the growing trend of economic and political integration in East Asia, and the changing relations among Asian countries and between Asia and the West. The Journal seeks original papers, survey articles, and book reviews that fall within its scope. Articles submitted to Asian Politics & Policy should be original contributions and should not be under consideration for any other publication at the same time. If another version of the article is under consideration by another publication, or has been, or will be published elsewhere, authors should clearly indicate this at the time of submission. Papers must be in English and in principle no more than 13,000 words in length, including footnotes.

For more information go to Wiley-Blackwell - <http://www.blackwellpublishing.com/journal.asp>. Policy Studies Organization - <http://www.ipsonet.org> Click on Publications.

International Journal of Korean Studies is published twice a year by the International Council on Korean Studies, a non-profit organization dedicated to the advancement of Korean studies in the United States and abroad. The journal's editors welcome the submission of papers dealing with various aspects of modern Korea. For further information, please contact Dr. Hugo W. Kim, Editor-in-Chief, International Journal of Korean Studies, 14641 Lee Highway, Suite 208, Centreville, VA 20121. Tel (703) 266-3245, Fax (703) 266-3865, E-mail: hugo33kim@verizon.net.

Journal of East Asian Studies is interested in publishing fresh, social science research on East Asia including Korea. Our core readership is in political science and international relations, but we are open to submissions from applied economics and political economy to political sociology and business studies. You can see what we are doing at <http://www.riener.com/viewbook.cfm?BOOKID=1354>, where you can download a sample issue and view abstracts. We have published strong work on Korea and East Asia in recent issues. Now it has been indexed by SSCI. Editorial queries welcome to Young-Hwan Shin at yhshin@eai.or.kr; the work of junior scholars is always welcome as are library subscriptions.

North Korean Review (NKR) is a peer-refereed journal published twice annually by McFarland and Company. NKR has played a defining role in the field of North Korean studies since its fall 2005 inauguration issue. The purpose of the journal is to provide the world with opportunities for improved understanding of North Korean relations with the United States and other countries. This international journal publishes the very best policy-oriented and multidisciplinary work on relations between North Korea and other countries. Economics, business, culture, history, politics, and international relations are represented. If you would like to submit an article for possible publication in NKR, please submit your paper as an email attachment in Microsoft Word to the Editor. Send all manuscripts and editorial inquiries about NKR to ink@udmercy.edu. If you would like to know more about NKR, please visit www.northkoreanreview.com <<http://www.northkoreanreview.com/>> (NKR's website) and <http://business.udmercy.edu/ink/index.htm> (Institute for North Korean Studies). "North Korean Review is the first journal of its kind. Belongs in most university libraries-Library Journal."

Pacific Focus invites submission of original manuscripts. The journal's remit is to represent the wide range of research interests covering security, regionalism, environment, migration, civil society, and multi-culturalism in the Asia-Pacific region. PF is a peer-reviewed journal published three times a year (April, August & December) by the Center for International Studies, Inha

University, Korea and the Wiley-Blackwell Publishing, USA. PF is indexed and abstracted in the Social Sciences Citation Index, Social Scisearch, Journal Citation Reports/Social Sciences Edition. Submitted manuscripts should be original pieces of work that have not been published in other places or not currently on offer to another publisher. Submitted manuscripts should be 7,500-11,000 words in length, including footnotes. Also include in your submission an author's Bio-data (less than 100 words), an abstract (150-250 words), Keywords (5-10 words), and References (less than 2 pages). For submission guidelines, refer to the journal's website at <http://inhacis.com>. For manuscript submission or inquiries, please contact Professor Seung-Ho Joo, Associate Editor for North America by phone (320-589-6203) or by e-mail (joos@umn.edu).

Taiwan Journal of Democracy (TJD), a refereed academic journal on the studies of democracy and democratization in Asia and the world, welcomes submission of manuscripts on democratic institutions, processes and behavior in Korea. A typical TJD is 25 pages long, double-spaced, and footnoted (rather than end-noted) following the Chicago manual. For articles and book reviews published in TJD, see <http://www.tfd.org.tw/english/tjd.php>. Manuscripts should be sent via email attachment to: T.J. Cheng, editor of TJD, Department of Government, College of William and Mary, Williamsburg, Virginia 23187-8795, tjchen@wm.edu, Tel: 757-221-3032; Fax: 757-221-1868.

FELLOWSHIP ANNOUNCEMENTS

EAI Fellows Program on Peace, Governance, and Development in East Asia.

The East Asia Institute (EAI) based in Seoul, Korea, invites applications to its Fellows Program on Peace, Governance, and Development in East Asia. Funded by the Henry Luce Foundation of New York, the East Asia Foundation of Seoul, and the Chang Ching-Kuo Foundation for International Scholarly of Taipei, the Fellows Program targets the East Asianists with cutting-edge expertise in political science, international relations, and sociology for an international exchange program with the goal of encouraging interdisciplinary research with a comparative perspective in the study of East Asia. The EAI Fellows present seminars and lectures, based on an unpublished article on current issues submitted solely for the purpose of the Fellows Program, at two or more Member Institutions in East Asia.

Program: The Program is designed to give the Fellows the flexibility required to bring out the best of their expertise in seminars and lectures. Fellows choose the subjects of their articles, seminars, and lectures within the broadly defined themes of peace, governance, and development in East Asia in order to make the visitation an integral part of their on-going research. Fellows are free to decide how they will divide their time among two or more Member Institutions, giving a seminar and a lecture apiece at each of the sites chosen. The Member Institutions are the East Asia Institute in Seoul, Fudan University in Shanghai, Keio University in Tokyo, Peking University in Beijing, and Taiwan National University in Taipei.

Eligibility: The EAI Fellows Program is intended for tenured, tenure-track, and untenured East Asianist professors based in the United States, Canada, Europe, Australia, and other non-Asian regions, conducting research in the fields of political science, international relations, and sociology.

Selection Process: The representatives of the Member Institutions plus an Advisor based in the United States select EAI Fellows through an annual competition.

Support: The program provides a total of USD10,000 for each of the Fellows for a three-week visit. The grant covers an honorarium for the article, seminar, and lecture as well as the cost of ground transportation, round-trip economy-class international air flight, hotel accommodation, meals, and a per diem for a total of three-week stay in East Asia [see comments on Application Forms].

Application: For further details and instructions on how to apply, please download a booklet titled "Fellows Program on Peace, Governance, and Development in East Asia" available online at <http://www.eai.or.kr/eng/program/fellows.html> or e-mail fellowships@eai.or.kr for assistance. All application materials must be type-written and in English.

Deadline: Applications for fellowships must be received no later than May 31, 2009. The results of the competition will be announced on July 20, 2009, by both e-mail and letter.
