

October 4, 2020 • 27 Sunday Ordinary Time Cycle A Saint Charles Borromeo eBulletin

Beloved,
Pax et Bonum (Latin for Peace and Goodness) was the traditional welcome and parting phrase used by St. Francis of Assisi. We celebrate the feast day of St. Francis October 4. I will have more on him next week. He is my favorite saint.

Can you say Adoration? Yes, it is time and we will start next Monday! Big cheers to Mark Harvey, Steve Spooner and Bob Schrimpf for their labor of love. The chapel and tabernacle are beautiful! And boy do we need to pray! Much more info in the 3 Big Things.

Want to focus on St. Therese of Lisieux the week as we honor her October 1. Affectionately known as “The Little Flower” who proposed for us “The Little Way.” I think we desperately need her simple, stunningly clear vision today. The “Little Way” is about performing everyday tasks and offering our sufferings in the presence and love of God. Each action or suffering is to be for the good of others. It’s in the little things, all the day long. We always seek the Pax et Bonum of others and we pray our sufferings will be used to bless others with the victorious life of God (Redemptive Suffering).

The spirit of the Little Way can be caught by a phrase The Little Flower was fond of saying, “The loser always wins!” Further fleshing out this whole spiritual orientation, she says, “I expect each day to discover new imperfections in myself... I am simply resigned to see myself always as imperfect- and in this I find my joy... My own folly is this: to trust that your love will accept me. I am only a child, powerless and weak....” To find fullness of life through the Little Way, she offers, “Perfection seems simple to me. Recognize one’s nothingness and abandon oneself as a child into God’s arms.”

Maybe if we all lived more of The Little Way, we would go a long more way. I know I have enough EGO to fill the Grand Canyon but where does that leave God? On the outs? And how long and good and peaceful will my life be without God? How’s my life now and what’s my end game? If I don’t recognize my nothingness and abandon myself as a child into God’s hands, what do I have?

Just want to offer some reflection on how the world doesn’t live The Little Way. I hope we can reflect together, be honest about our total need for God, and throw ourselves into His arms as a child to his parents. Then, the Little Way will turn into the long way of unending peace and joy!

If we lived the Little Way we would:

- *be delighted to take the last place in line
- *recoil from flattery
- *rejoice in the success of neighbors and even enemies
- *make no excuses for our sins
- *quick to admit our weaknesses
- *prefer hiddenness to acclaim
- *grateful when others criticized us and point out our shortcomings
- *not be undone by the injury and injustice we suffer
- *unmoved by worldly status, fame, and prestige
- *Experience peace in the midst of the world's conflict, turmoil and strife

Therese The Little Flower, pray that we will choose The Little Way, Amen.

SCBA

ACADEMY NEWS

Greetings SCBP

My name is Patrick Tiernan and I am jumping on the grenade and taking over as PTG President for the Academy, effective today. I am a husband to 1, father of 5 (our twins, Josh and Cade, are in 1st grade and our oldest, Kourtney, is in 3rd), Knight of Columbus (current treasurer), airline pilot, and have been serving in the Marine Corps in both active and reserve capacities over the last 25 years and counting. Needless to say, we are not busy at all during corona times (insert wink emoji here).

My priorities this season are as follows:

1) Fundraise $100,000. That's right, $100,000 ... this school year! We will accomplish this through several events:

a. Apex (previously a run, will now be a dance-a-thon to be held via zoom)

b. Grateful Giving Campaign

c. Annual Gala & Auction

2) Family outreach and engagement, with an emphasis on Dads leading. We need volunteers to assist on campus in the following ways:

a. Recess supervision and cleanup

b. Computer lab update and maintenance

c. Social Media "ninja"/Website update and maintenance

3) Continue to build bridges with the greater St. Charles parish community. We so have many parishioners who are SCBA alumni and who have sent their children to SCBA. They care deeply about the Academy and Catholic education and a big reason that SCBA is here for all of us. I share Fr John's vision of one St. Charles family where parishioners and Academy students and families lift each other up in our journey toward Heaven. Let's keep connecting education and our Catholic Values in new and exciting ways.

4) PTG Meetings to resume in person and/or zoom.

Please realize many parents do not have a lot of time on their hands with hybrid or distance school going on, and that this environment is stressful to operate in. Kimberly and I are "living that dream" as well, but I feel compelled to support Mrs. Cota and our teachers as the Academy navigates this unusual school year. We will keep you apprised of updates to our school and fun activities that can safely be done during this weird season. Our family is praying for yours!
