Theological Questions

Last week's question: Was Mohammed, the founder of Islam, a true prophet of God?

No. Although Mohammed claimed that he was a prophet, and although he claimed that the angel Gabriel dictated the Koran to him, he cannot be considered a true prophet, and his teachings cannot be reconciled with the teachings of Jesus Christ. Mohammed (570-632) lived in Arabia, in an area that was inhabited mostly by pagans, but also by Jews and Christians. Mohammed borrowed many ideas from the Old Testament and the New Testament, including the belief in only one God, but he greatly simplified and altered those beliefs in a system called "Islam" (submission). For example, Mohammed taught that Jesus is not true God, but only a prophet, and that his message was completely misinterpreted by his followers. It seems that Mohammed was influenced in this belief by the Arian heresy, which was rather common on the fringes of the Christian world.

The Catechism says, "The Christian economy, therefore, since it is the new and definitive Covenant, will never pass away; and no new public revelation is to be expected before the glorious manifestation of our Lord Jesus Christ (#66)". St. Peter said this about Jesus, "There is no salvation in anyone else, for there is no other name in the whole world given to men by which we are to be saved." (Acts 4:12) St. John said, "Every spirit that acknowledges Jesus Christ come in the flesh belongs to God, while every spirit that fails to acknowledge him does not belong to God. Such is the spirit of the antichrist." (1 John 4:2-3) St. Paul warned the early Christians, "For even if we, or an angel from heaven, should preach to you a gospel not in accord with the one we delivered to you, let a curse be upon him! I repeat what I have just said: if anyone preaches a gospel to you other than the one you received, let a curse be upon him." (Galatians 1:8-9).

New Question:

What does the Church teach about the obligation to attend Mass when the weather is very bad (for example, when it snows)?

See next week's bulletin for the answer.

Rite of Christian Initiation for Adults (RCIA) Classes Begin this Monday, September 16

Beginning Monday evening, September 16, and continuing until the Easter Vigil, a series of weekly instructional classes in the Catholic Faith will be held at St. Andrews on Mondays in the Padre Pio Room from 7:30 - 8:45 p.m. Baptized non-Catholics and those who are unbaptized are welcome to attend these classes to learn more about the faith.
