Theological Questions

Last week's question: What is a cantata?

Literally, cantata means "chanted" or "sung". Thus, a "Missa Cantata" means a "Sung Mass" (or "High Mass"), in which the parts of the Mass are sung rather than recited ("Low Mass"). So, obviously, a cantata is a piece of music that is sung. A cantata is vocal music, as opposed to a "sonata", which is instrumental (literally "sounded" or "played").

But with the development of instrumental music in the Baroque period, in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries, the word "cantata" has been used to refer to a specific type of vocal music. In an opera, a cantata refers to one or more voices singing, with either minimal accompaniment or none, often in a narrative or "recitative" manner, similar to ordinary speech.

In liturgical music, a sacred cantata is a piece of sung music of a similar style. Johann Sebastian Bach (1685-1750) composed at least 209 cantatas, most of which were written for use in sacred liturgical settings. At Thomaskirche, a Lutheran parish in Leipzig, Bach was expected to compose a new cantata almost every week, to provide music appropriate for the complete cycle of liturgical feasts and seasons of the liturgical year. A well-known Bach cantata for the Second Sunday of Advent ("Herz und Mund und Tat und Leben") contains a movement known in English as "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring".

New Question: What is an oratorio?

See next week's bulletin for the answer.

"Wisdom from above is first pure, then peaceable, gentle, willing to yield."

Praying for wisdom will help you yield to Christ's choice for you. Should He extend to you the gift of a vocation to the consecrated life or priesthood, call Fr. Michael Isenberg at (703) 841-2514, or write: m.isenberg@arlingtondiocese.org

Adult Bible Study

A four-week study of the encyclical Humanae Vitae entitled "Celebrating Humanae Vitae" is held on Wednesday evenings at 7:15 p.m. in Monsignor Hannan Hall.

Released in 1968 by the fearless Pope Paul VI, Humanae Vitae was immediately controversial, even though it reaffirmed constant Church teaching. The 31 paragraphs within concern the sanctity of marriage and of human life itself, but today many Catholics ignore this outright in favor of convenience. This study will help us see how much happier marriages and families would be if they simply trusted the words of Christ and his bride, the Church.

For registration information please contact Russell Rowzie at 703-930-7610 or email RRowzie@TrimarkCorporation.com.
