Message from the Most Reverend Michael F. Burbidge, Bishop of the Diocese of Arlington on Respect Life Month 2019

October 1, 2019

During the month of October, we join with dioceses across the country to mark Respect Life Month. We take as our theme this year "Christ Our Hope in Every Season of Life." Our focus on hope is greatly needed in a world suffering the harmful consequences of a "throwaway culture."

May we take this month to renew our commitment to the sacredness of life at every stage; to creating a society where all human beings are welcomed; where abortion, euthanasia and suicide are unthinkable; and where the elderly, inmates, immigrants and those with disabilities are treated with dignity and respect.

Our efforts to uphold the dignity of life must be rooted in prayer, advocacy, and witness. We pray daily and fervently, trusting in the power of God to make all things new.

In a special way, the Church continues to shine the healing light of mercy on all men and women who have lost children through abortion. Project Rachel offers free, confidential, and compassionate support to all who seek Christ's healing.

Our parishes also stand as beacons of hope as through the Gabriel Project they accompany expectant families in challenging pregnancies. Life-affirming help for those seeking to make adoption plans for their unborn children is available through Catholic Charities.

May Mary, our mother, intercede for us as we turn to God seeking His grace to be courageous and faithful witnesses to the Gospel of life.

*The altar flowers this week have been donated in memory of:
Catherine and John C. Mould*

Theological Questions

Last week's question: What is ascetical theology?

This is the study of theology as it relates to growth in holiness through the practice of prayer and the spiritual life. It is sometimes called "the science of the saints," because it aims at leading souls toward Christian perfection, especially through the virtue of charity, as seen in the lives of the saints. It may be thought of as an aspect of moral theology, because the goal of all of our moral actions is the following of Christ, and eternal happiness with Him. However, ascetical theology is more narrowly focused on the practices of the spiritual life.

Part Four of the Catechism of the Catholic Church explains many of these topics related to Christian prayer, especially by reflecting on the words of the "Our Father." The word "ascetical" comes from the Greek, askesis, which refers to athletic training or discipline, because the rigorous spiritual life of the early Christians was sometimes compared to the strict discipline of athletes or soldiers.

New Question: What is evangelization?

See next week's bulletin for the answer.
