NCAA CHAMPIONSHIPS PREVIEW

The 10th-seeded and 10th-ranked Texas A&M men's tennis team is one of 16 schools on a quest toward a national title run as the 2010 NCAA Division I Men's Tennis Championships gets underway this weekend on May 21-25 at the Dan Magill Tennis Complex on the campus of host University of Georgia in Athens, Ga.

The Aggies (25-6) will take on seventh-seeded and eighth-ranked Baylor (23-6) in a round of 16 match scheduled for Friday, May 21 at 2 p.m. (CT). The two Big 12 Conference-member schools, separated by the Brazos River and cities located 90 miles apart, will face each other in the Sweet 16 for the second time in both program's history. The Aggies were seeded No. 16 and the Bears No. 1 in the 2005 national championship held in College Station.

"It's going to be a dog fight like it's been all year against them," Texas A&M head coach Steve Denton said. "We've beaten them twice this year, but both matches have been really close. It wouldn't surprise me if we have six three-setters (in singles) on Friday, because all of our players are very competitive and we know each other very well. It just comes down to who wants it more, who executes better and who comes up with the big shots at the right times in the match. We know we have our work cut out for us and have to play really well, like we did the last two times against them, to advance."

Baylor leads 24-17 in the all-time series with A&M since 1978. However, the Aggies have won the last two meetings between the two in-state rivals, a 6-1 upset in league regular-season play on April 7 in College Station and a 4-1 decision in the Big 12 Tournament semifinals on May 1 in Austin, Texas. The winner will advance to an Elite Eight meeting with either second-seeded Tennessee (28-1) or 15th-seeded Louisville (24-5) on Sunday, May 23 at 3 p.m. (CT). The Aggies and Bears are also on the same side of the bracket as 11th-seeded Georgia (19-7) and sixth-seeded Florida (21-4) as well as third-seeded Texas (27-2) and unseeded Oklahoma (18-7).

2010 NCAA CHAMPIONSHIP POSTSEASON GUIDE

Aggies In Postseason Play... Texas A&M is making its 18th overall NCAA Tournament appearance in program history and 17th consecutive since 1994. The Aggies have now reached the round of 16 on 10 all-time occasions and the Elite Eight once in 2001. They are 27-17 all-time in postseason play – 6-3 under Denton. A&M has played in four previous Sweet 16's held in Athens in 2003 (lost to Vanderbilt), 2001 (lost to TCU in Elite Eight), 2000 (lost to Tennessee) and 1985 (lost to Pepperdine).

"It's a wonderful thing for our whole team to experience Athens," said Coach Denton who has two players and two possible doubles teams playing in the NCAA individual championship following the team tournament. "It's a very special place with the ITA Men's Tennis Hall of Fame and home to great crowds. It's just a really good atmosphere for college tennis and we are excited to be a part of it all."

How They Got There... The Aggies handed Prairie View A&M a 4-0 rout in the first round on May 14, followed by a hard-fought 4-2 victory over No. 18-ranked Mississippi in the second round. All three doubles matches were close versus the Rebels and both teams split sets in four out of the six singles matches. The Aggies were able to prevail and close out the season at home with a school-record 19-1 mark at the George P. Mitchell Tennis Center. It marked their second consecutive year to host an NCAA regional in Aggieland.

"Anytime you can overcome adversity, it gives you confidence as you move forward," said Coach Denton on the Ole Miss match preparing and pushing the Aggies' for competition to come. "There were moments in that match when I thought we would win comfortably early and then, there were moments where I thought we were going to stay home. It worked out that our guys pushed through it, kept fighting and were able to prevail in the end. It was a tough match and it should help us prepare for our match against Baylor on Friday."

Players To Watch...A&M is led by co-Big 12 Player of the Year Austin Krajicek (Brandon, Fla.), a four-time junior All-American who is currently ranked No. 6 nationally in singles, along with Big 12 Newcomer of the Year Jeff Dadamo (Tampa, Fla.), who is also a junior All-American ranked No. 39 nationally. A&M's depth chart also includes the talented cast of junior Alexey Grigorov (Moscow, Russia), sophomore Alexis Klegou (Dunkerque, France), freshman Alberto Bautista (McAllen, Texas) and senior co-captain Marcus Lunt (San Antonio, Texas). Dadamo and Krajicek are currently ranked No. 5 nationally in doubles, while Grigorov and Lunt are ranked No. 34.

Oh, How Sweet It Is... Texas A&M is one of 10 schools, including three from the Big 12, returning to the Sweet 16 for the second-straight season along with host Georgia, top-seeded Virginia, defending national champion USC, Stanford, Tennessee, Texas, Baylor, national runner-up Ohio State and UCLA. Last year, the Aggies were seeded 15th and fell to Ole Miss (4-1) in the round of 16 at the home-hosted 2009 NCAA Division I Men's Tennis Championships held at the Mitchell Tennis Center in College Station. A&M has solidified its place among the nation's best and hopes to make a solid run in Athens.

"Last year, USC was a No. 8 seed and got hot at the right time and won the tournament," Denton said. "Why can't that be us this year? We are a good team. We have played well down the stretch and don't have any holes in our lineup. Our guys just have to step up and play well at the right time – and good things can happen for us. For this first match, we have to be prepared to be on our toes, because Baylor is going to come after us."

W2W4... The Aggies have four players with more than 18 dual wins each in singles including a team-leading 21-5 record by Alexey Grigorov who became the 30th player in school history to gain entrance into the 20-Win Club. He is joined by Austin Krajicek (19-6), Alberto Bautista (19-8) and Jeff Dadamo (18-8). Bautista clinched two of A&M's biggest matches of the season, a 6-1 upset of No. 9 Baylor on April 7, and a 4-2 victory over No. 18 Ole Miss in the NCAA Second Round on May 15. In doubles play, Marcus Lunt (23-6) is one win away from tying All-American Ryan Newport (24-3), current Texas A&M women's tennis assistant coach Mark Weaver (24-4) and Bernardo Martinez (24-4) for the most dual wins in a single season. He is one of four players with 19+ dual wins in doubles along with doubles teammate Grigorov (20-7), Austin Krajicek (19-8) and Jeff Dadamo (19-8).

COACHING STAFF PROFILES

STEVE DENTON
Head Coach - Fourth Season
70-39 (.642)

Steve Denton, a U.S. Open Doubles Champion and former All-American, was named the head men's tennis coach at Texas A&M University on August 8, 2006.

Known nationally and internationally throughout the tennis world, Denton won 20 professional doubles titles and was ranked as high as No. 11 in the world in singles and No. 2 in the world in doubles in 1982. A four-year collegiate standout at the University of Texas, he helped the Longhorns to an impressive 78-27 (.743) team record from 1976-79. Denton amassed an 85-22 singles record and a 72-18 doubles record, while also earning All-American honors in 1978.

He was inducted into the Texas Tennis Hall of Fame in 1997, the inaugural Blue-Gray Tennis Classic Hall of Fame in 2006 and the ITA Hall of Fame in 2008.

"Steve is arguably the best tennis player to ever come out of the state of Texas all-time," Byrne said. "We are very fortunate to hire a head coach with such strong ties to the state and with such a solid tennis background as both a player and a coach.

"I have admired him from a distance and what he has accomplished with limited resources at Texas A&M-Corpus Christi over the last couple of years. He did a phenomenal job there as a coach, a fundraiser and a facilities manager all in one. We are very impressed with the plan he has in place to build champions here. We are confident that he will bring home national championships in men's tennis to Texas A&M."

Enjoying nine successful years on the professional circuit, Denton reached the singles finals of the Australian Open twice in 1981 and 1982. During his career, he advanced to seven singles finals and defeated the likes of Boris Becker, John McEnroe and Stan Smith. Denton also represented the U.S. as a member of the Davis Cup Team in 1982 and 1983, playing alongside tennis greats in Arthur Ashe, McEnroe, Peter Fleming and Eliot Teltscher. Denton teamed with his former college teammate Kevin Curren and captured the U.S. Open doubles title in 1982. In all, he totaled winnings more than $1 million as a pro on the ATP Tour.

"I'm elated to have this opportunity," Denton said. "It's a dream come true to come to a school with such a fine reputation in men's tennis as Texas A&M. I have very high expectations for this team and I know the university has the same as well. I've worked really hard the last couple of years for an opportunity like this and I look forward to continuing the winning tradition here."

Among his professional accomplishments, Denton has been named the recipient of the 1981 Most Improved Player Award by Tennis Magazine, the 1981 Wilmer Allison Sportsmanship, Excellence of Character Award and the 1982 Sportsmanship Award by the Association of Tennis Professionals. Most notably, he broke the world record for fastest serve of 138 miles per hour in 1984, a record that stood in the Guinness Book of World Records for 13 years.

Prior to his professional tennis career, Denton served a one-year stint with the Björn Borg Sports Management Corporation in the late 1980s.

While at TAMUCC, Denton compiled a 64-48 overall record and garnered back-to-back Southland Conference Coach of the Year honors in 2004 and 2005. Not only did he guide the Islanders to three SLC championship titles, but also to their first NCAA Championship appearance in school history and a top 20 national ranking in 2005. During their NCAA run, the Islanders reached the second round before falling 4-2 to then second-ranked and eventual quarterfinalists Virginia.

Three of his players gained national rankings during his appointment, including two-time Southland Conference Player of the Year Raul Morant-Rivas. One of eight all-time all-conference first team selections under Denton, Morant-Rivas was the first player in school history to receive an NCAA at-large bid in singles in 2006.

Denton previously served as the Director of the HEB Tennis Center in Corpus Christi, Texas, a position he held for seven years. His association with the center began in 1990, where he helped coach several state and national junior champions, organized several exhibition matches with touring professionals and successfully fundraised over $1 million for renovations and improvements to the tennis center.

He has been instrumental in the development of many of the state's top junior players, while serving as the captain of the USTA Texas Section's Junior Davis Cup Team the past three summers. Denton has led the training for the state's top seven boys and coached them in Junior Davis Cup matches. He coached current A&M senior All-American Conor Pollock on the Junior Davis Cup team in 2004.

"Coaching our Junior Davis Cup Team is one of the contributions to Texas tennis that I feel very strong about," Denton said. "I've had the privilege to coach the top boys in our state and give them a taste of what the team tennis format is all about."

In the UT record books, his .794 winning percentage in singles still ranks third all-time for players accounting at least 30 victories and his .800 winning percentage ranks tied for sixth all-time in doubles competition. During his freshman season, Denton compiled a 21-1 doubles mark, a record that still stands today for best winning percentage in a single season.

Born in Kingsville, Texas, Denton attended Bishop High School, where he captured four consecutive 3A state singles titles as a prep. His parents, Claude and Twig, currently reside in Driscoll, Texas. Denton also has two sisters, Carolyn and Cheryl.

BOB McKINLEY
Assistant Coach - Fourth Season

ITA Hall of Famer Bob McKinley is in his fourth season as an assistant coach for the Texas A&M men's tennis team.

"Coach McKinley is one of the most respected names in the tennis community," Texas A&M head men's tennis coach Steve Denton said. "He is a living legend and is very well known in the state of Texas and across the country. This is a great day for Aggie tennis. I am very excited about Bob joining our team and I couldn't think of a better fit."

McKinley has served as the Director of the John Newcombe Tennis Academy in New Braunfels, Texas since 1995. He served as director of tennis at Dominion Country Club and the McFarlin Tennis Center, both in San Antonio. McKinley served as the head coach at Trinity University from 1974-84. He compiled a record of 219 wins and 57 losses at Trinity reaching the NCAA Finals in 1977 and 1979. He coached one NCAA singles champion as well as an NCAA doubles championship tandem.

"I am so excited about joining the team at Texas A&M," McKinley said. "I know that the players, the facilities, and the support make it one of the top tennis programs in the United States. Working under a coach like Steve Denton will be a real privilege, and I am confident that together we can give the players one of the best coaching tandems in the nation. Having won an NCAA title as a player and being in two NCAA Championship finals as a coach, I feel that I can help our players understand what it takes to get to the very top of collegiate tennis."

Among his coaching honors he was named NCAA Coach of the Year in 1977 and produced 12 All-Americans at Trinity. He has served as the U.S. Coach for the World University Games and was named the Developmental Coach of the Year by the USA Olympic Committee for 2000. He was Coach of the Year for World Team Tennis in 1991 and coached two Orange Bowl champions in 1999 and 2000. He has coached players at Grand Slams from 1996-2001 and was the coach of the Texas Intersectional Team for three years. In 2005, he was named the Touring Coach of the Year by the USPTA.

Rewriting record books

By Michael Sullivan | The Battalion

Not many athletes get a stadium or court named after them. Even fewer athletes get this prestigious recognition while still competing for their team. However, walk out to George P. Mitchell Tennis Center and on court 2 you will find junior Austin Krajicek's name.

The honor is well-deserved for the 6'1" junior, who in just two years at A&M has placed his stamp on the men's tennis record books as a two-time All American and one of two players in school history to advance to the NCAA Doubles semifinals.

Although he is just 19, Krajicek has played in the U.S. Open, served on the practice squad of the U.S. Davis Cup team, and is ranked No. 921 in the world for singles. Lucky for the Aggies, Krajicek said he feels there is no rush to enter the professional world and wants to continue his career at A&M.

"It has always been a goal of mine to play pro tennis," Krajicek said. "I am a young guy, still 19 and only a junior, so there is no reason for me to rush into pro tennis. I will still have a lot of time to play after college tennis."

Krajicek was born and raised in Brandon, Fla., near the heart of Gator Nation. Tabbed as the No. 1 singles player in the state of Florida, No. 32 in the world junior rankings, and No. 7 college tennis prospect in the country by Tennis Recruiting Network, it is a wonder that A&M was able to grab Krajicek away from the nationally prominent University of Florida tennis team. But Krajicek fell in love with the coaches and atmosphere Aggieland had to offer.

"It was a tough decision for me because I have been a Gators fan my whole life," Krajicek said. "I really like the coaches a lot and we have one of the better coaching staffs in the country. I just kind of fell in love with the atmosphere here and I really liked the city because it is a college town."

Not only is Krajicek helping the Aggies by winning matches on the court, but he is helping to attract other tennis players to Aggieland. Jeff Dadamo, a fellow Florida native that grew up with Krajicek, spent two years with Florida before transferring to A&M in the fall.

In the fall season, Krajicek and Dadamo — both lefties — teamed up as a doubles tandem and advanced to the ITA National Indoor Semi-Finals.

"I think Jeff came because he saw I was improving and wanted the same," Krajicek said. "I have known Jeff since I was seven or eight. He wanted to play pro tennis as well and Coach Denton and McKinley are great for that."

As the Aggies enter the 2010 season, Krajicek is the most likely candidate to fill the No. 1 single position left vacant by Conor Pollock. The only dilemma is whether to move Krajicek's court with him to court 1 where he will play No. 1 singles for the Aggies.

"I was hoping they would move my name over and bump Conor down," Krajicek said jokingly. "We have three really good guys this year, so I think we will have a really flexible line-up. Wherever they put me I want to play my best and try to win matches."

A fresh start

Jeff Dadamo thriving in new environment

By Michael Sullivan | The Battalion

After spending two years at the University of Florida, Jeff Dadamo was pushed away by the Florida coaching staff and landed at Texas A&M. After joining the Aggies in the fall, Dadamo made his presence known locking down the No. 1 doubles and No. 2 singles spots for the Aggies.

"I spent my first two years at Florida, but I wasn't getting along with the head coach, Andy Jackson," Dadamo said. "We were having some disputes and it just really wasn't where I wanted to go with my tennis, so I started looking elsewhere."

Before playing for Florida, Dadamo was also pursued by the University of Illinois. After being released by Florida, Dadamo began talking to Illinois before deciding to sign with A&M. Dadamo grew up playing junior tennis in Florida with junior Austin Krajicek. Krajicek and Dadamo's previous relationship became one of the factors contributing to his signing with the Aggies.

"I think the fact that Austin is from Florida certainly helped us," said A&M Head Coach Steven Denton. "Just the fact that his dad was a player as well and really wants Jeff to have an opportunity to play professional tennis and since [Assistant Coach Bob McKinley] and I had played pro tennis, we were a contributing factor to him coming here."

After moving to Aggieland, Dadamo has received the one thing lacking in Gator Nation: a coach he could work with. In his first semester at A&M, Denton and McKinley began transforming Dadamo's game into a more aggressive style of play that includes coming to the net more often.

See Dadamo on page 8

Dadamo

"One of the things at Florida was that I felt I wasn't getting the coaching I needed," Dadamo said. "As soon as I got out here the coaches spent a lot of time with me on the court and my game has improved a lot. I have added the aspect of coming to the net a lot more and being more aggressive."

In his two years at Florida, Dadamo spent most of his time playing No. 6 singles and never cracked the list of top 100 singles players in the nation. In the fall, Dadamo posted a 9-3 singles record and has continued his dominance in the spring playing No. 2 singles for the Aggies while posting a 6-3 record thus far. In the most recent International Tennis Association rankings, Dadamo was tabbed as the No. 33 player in the nation.

"He is playing well and winning a lot for us," Denton said. "He is playing considerably higher in our lineup and having success here as well."

With two years of eligibility remaining, Dadamo hopes to accomplish several goals he was unable to achieve at Florida. Individually, Dadamo would like to compete in the NCAA Championships in doubles and singles. If the season ended today, his No. 9 doubles ranking and No. 33 singles ranking would grant him that opportunity. As a team, Dadamo would like to end his career at A&M with a National Championship ring.

"At Florida I felt like we were a good team, but we were never able to accomplish our team goals in winning a National Championship," Dadamo said. "Out here that is our number one goal … and I feel like this is a team that could do it."

Junior Jeff Dadamo has flourished early on at A&M. Head Coach Steve Denton has placed Dadamo in the No. 1 doubles position and the No. 2 singles spot.

Aggie men's tennis team beats Baylor

Alberto Bautista's baptism into the A&M-Baylor men's tennis rivalry will be a memorable one.

The freshman from McAllen clinched the Aggies' 6-1 victory after failing on two match points and then having to take an injury timeout before a third match point.

Bautista, at No. 5, returned to win the ensuing point for a 6-4, 6-7 (4), 6-3 victory, giving the Aggies their first victory over Baylor since 2006, a string of five matches.

"We weren't able to close out the match in those second sets, but our guys still believed and still continued to fight and were able to come through with, I think, my best victory as a coach since I've been here," said head coach Steve Denton, who is in his fourth year at A&M. "I was really proud of these guys. They've done everything we asked them to do and continue to get better."

It was a race to see who would get the deciding point for the Aggies. For a brief moment, Bautista, Alexey Grigorov at No. 4 and Alexis Klegou at No. 3 each had match points.

At first, it appeared as if Bautista could clinch the match but his timeout at 5-3, ad-point, gave Grigorov the opportunity to give the Aggies the victory.

Grigorov had come back from 2-5 down to lead 6-5. He had two match points while Bautista was being helped, but was unable to close out the match. Just as the second match point was being played, Klegou was serving for his match.

Attila Bucko extended the match and Bautista returned to the court to win one point, his match and the overall team match.

"For him to be serving for the match, not close out that second set and then still have the guts to win a third set says a lot about him, his character and how hard he works," Denton said. "He loves to compete, and I knew that would be a dogfight, like all these others were."

While Grigorov and Klegou battled on, the rest of the team dog-piled Bautista, who had dropped to the ground. He was later doused with water.

A&M's No. 1 doubles team of Austin Krajicek and Jeff Dadano set the tone early by winning their first 18 points en route to 8-3 victory. Bautista and Grigorov followed suit with an 8-3 victory to give the Aggies the doubles point.

Krajicek and Dadamo continued their stellar play in singles. Krajicek downed Denes Lukacs 6-2, 6-4 on the No. 1 line and Dadamo topped Jordan Rux 6-3, 6-3.

It was Krajicek's first win over Lukacs a senior.

Aggies, Longhorns set for Big 12 tennis showdown

The Texas A&M men's tennis team is one victory away from winning it's first Big 12 tennis championship since 2001, six years before Steve Denton took over the program.

That's the good news for the Aggies. The bad news is the win has to come against the No. 3 team in the nation, Texas, on the road. The match is scheduled for 4 p.m. Saturday at the Penick-Allison Tennis Center in Austin.

"It's been four years for us to kind of been put in this situation," Denton said. "We finished second [last year] and I felt we were competitive with everyone, had our chances, but didn't quite get it done. This year this team has stepped up and played a little bit better and obviously won some matches in a row and the confidence is pretty high."

A&M (20-4, 5-0 Big 12) has won 13 matches in a row -- the program's second longest streak -- and jumped to No. 9 in the national rankings. While the Aggies were moving up two spots, so were the Longhorns (21-2, 4-0) to No. 3.

Texas is 21-2 overall and 4-0 in league play. The Longhorns' two losses came against the two top teams in the nation, Virginia and Tennessee, both away from Austin.

"What makes them so good is they don't have holes," Denton said. "They play well at all three doubles lines and they are capable of winning any singles match 1 through 6. That's what makes a good team, because not everybody is going to have their A game every time."

Texas, which reached the NCAA semifinals last season in College Station, has four players ranked in the top 100 individually and all three doubles teams in the top 50.

A&M counters with two individuals in the top 50, led by Austin Krajicek, who is undefeated Big 12 play and has moved up to No. 5.

Jeff Dadamo, Krajicek's doubles partner, is No. 35.

He is also fairly new to the rivalry, having transferred from Florida at the beginning of the year.

"They've always been a good team, but I didn't ever really like UT," said Dadamo, who beat Ed Corrie 6-3, 6-4 when the Aggies lost 4-3 to the Longhorns indoors in Houston. "I was always a bigger fan of A&M so we'll see how it goes this weekend. I haven't heard too much about Texas [fans] but I've heard the worst at LSU and Baylor, so I'm pretty much ready for whatever they've got."

Denton got his first victory against his alma mater last season when Conor Pollock won at No. 1 to give the Aggies the victory.

"I have a lot of fond memories there, lots of good friends there. My picture is on the wall [for being an All-American]," Denton said. "The rivalry is way bigger just because of the two schools. It has nothing to do with individuals. It will be there long after we are all dead and gone and its just a great rivalry."

TURNING UP THE HEAT

AGGIES HOPE TO KEEP THE SIZZLE FOR A DEEP POSTSEASON RUN

Story by Homer Jacobs

As the national semifinals unfolded in the NCAA Tournament last May at the Mitchell Tennis Center, the Texas A&M men's tennis team had to watch the party crashers from four other schools steal the bride, ruin the reception and hijack the honeymoon.

After all, A&M had beaten two of the semifinalists—USC and Texas—earlier in the year, and the Aggies blew a 3-0 lead and lost to Ohio State, 4-3. The Trojans eventually would knock off the Buckeyes for the 2009 national title, with USC players claiming their loss to the Aggies had fueled their championship run.

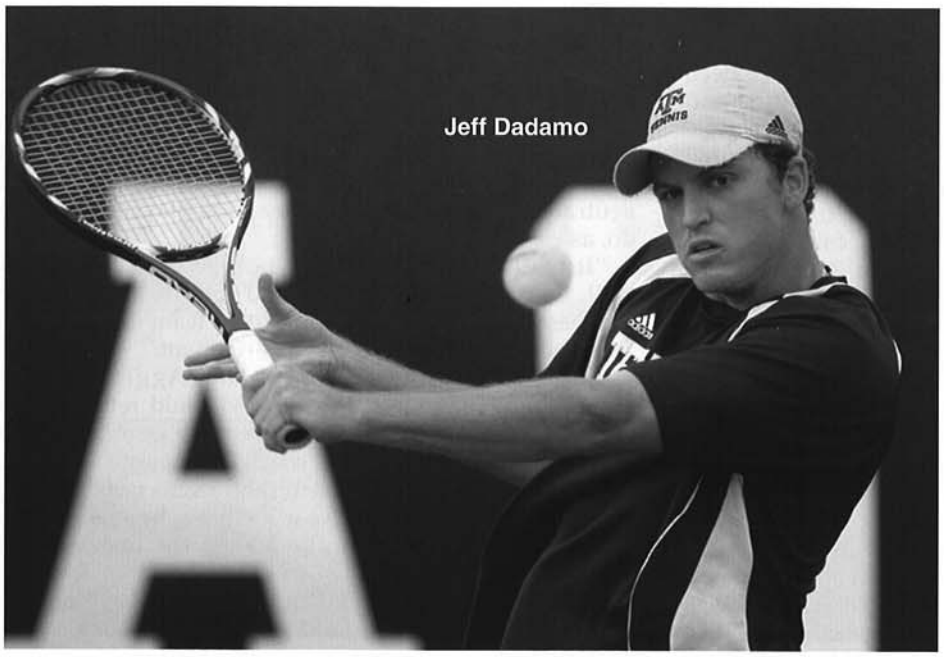

The setting a year ago has not faded in the minds of the Aggie players, who now realize they can play with—and beat—anyone in the country.

"Three of the final four, we had played straight up last year," said coach Steve Denton. "I feel like last year we had some glimpses of (greatness)."

The teases have turned into full-on testaments.

Since another tight, 4-3 loss to Ohio State during a winter, indoor swing through the Midwest, A&M rolled through a stretch where it won 13 straight matches before a buzzsaw in burnt orange derailed the Aggies, 7-0, in Austin on April 21.

Still, it was A&M's most impressive run of matches since the magical 2001 season, when the Aggies won 12 in a row and 21 out of 22 matches en route to an appearance in the Elite Eight of the NCAA Tournament.

Jeff Dadamo

But before the Aggies could heat up, they went cold in consecutive losses to Illinois (5-2) and Ohio State. Then the A&M coaching staff decided a major spark was needed.

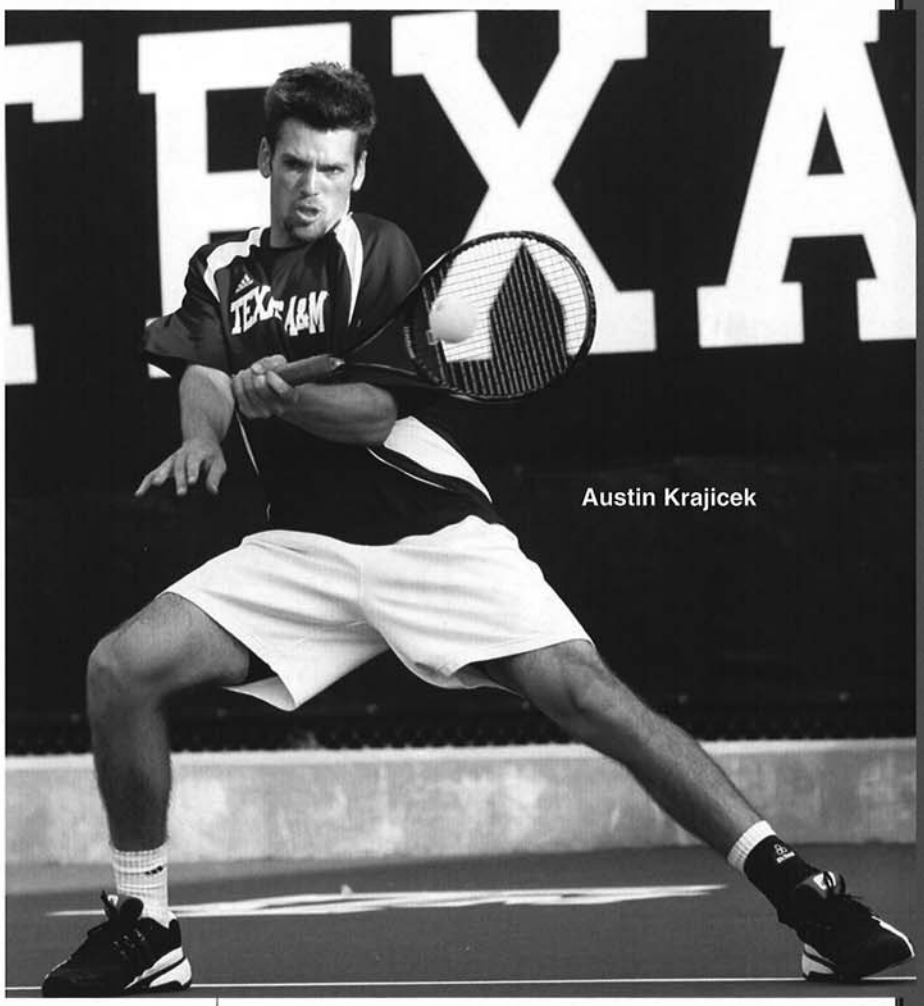

"After the Illinois match, we had a very serious conversation with them, to say the least," Denton said, recalling the locker room scene in Champaign. "And even after the Ohio State match, we weren't satisfied losing closely. We just felt like the team had turned the corner a little bit. It wasn't that they weren't competing, but they seemed to step it up another notch or two, and that was really good to see.

"And I think they began to believe themselves. Ohio State was an indoor team that wins all the time indoors, and here we were on the cusp of beating them at their place. I don't think they've lost an indoors match at home in 80 matches or so. It showed this A&M team belonged with the elite teams in college tennis, and that gave us some confidence to play well when we got back home."

The Aggies surged in March and in the rankings, as they solidified a lineup that could be A&M's deepest in a decade. A&M is loaded at the top with junior Austin Krajicek at the No. 1 line and Florida transfer Jeff Dadamo playing No. 2. The left-handed, serve-and-volleyers have also dominated in doubles, reaching as high as No. 3 in the national rankings. Krajicek has become a mainstay in the top 10 in singles, as well.

"I thought A&M was going to be really good," said Dadamo, who knew about fellow Floridian Krajicek during the juniors circuit. "I didn't get along with my coaches at UF, so I heard a lot of good things about Steve and Bob (McKinley) and I talked to Austin and (former A&M star) Conor Pollock about them. They had a good team last year, and I knew (Alexis) Klegou was going to be coming in this year after sitting out. I felt like it would be one of the better teams with some good coaching."

Austin Krajicek

Add in European talents like Klegou, Alexey Grigorov and Niall Angus to mix with freshman Alberto Bautista from McAllen, sophomore Colin Hoover from Victoria and senior leader Marcus Lunt from San Antonio, and the blend has been a bane for the Big 12.

The Aggies didn't win the Big 12 outright, but they did finish conference play with just one loss and a memorable 6-1 victory over Baylor. It was the Bears' worst loss in conference play since A&M pasted BU in 1998, 6-1.

"I'd say, without a doubt, it's the best team I've been around since I've been here," said Lunt, whose first season in Aggieland was 2005-06 before he served a two-year Mormon mission in Utah. "We knew the potential we had, and I think some of our coaches were reiterating over and over again: 'Look what we have this year and the potential we have.' Even after Fresno State (a 4-3 season-opening loss), there were tough matches here and there and everyone started really believing this could be a different year. It all started happening, and we're playing really well now."

The Aggies fell out of the top 25 rankings after their four losses early in the season, but reached as high as No. 9 before their match with No. 3 Texas. If the rankings hold—and the NCAA Tournament selection committee follows their lead—A&M could be in position for a seed line that isn't No. 15 or No. 16, the respective seeds the Aggies have recently been dealt.

"Regardless of how good of a team you are, if you have to play the one seed or the two seed in the (Sweet Sixteen), it's tough," Lunt added. "This year, we feel like and know from our ranking that we're over that hump and being in the top 10 will give us a much better opportunity to make a deep run."

The favorite to win the NCAA title this May in Athens, Ga., will be top-ranked Virginia. But the Cavaliers were the No. 1 seed last year and lost in the quarterfinals to eighth-seeded and eventual champion USC.

And make no mistake, the Aggies remember the upset that occurred on their own home courts and would love to follow suit when the postseason begins.

"If we played Virginia tomorrow, it would be a really good college match," Denton said. "I don't think they'd be an overwhelming favorite to beat us, especially at a neutral site. We've got some very good players, and they do, as well.

"It really comes down to who plays the big points well, who competes the best and who is the mentally toughest. It would be the same with a team like Virginia, as we get closer to the NCAA Tournament."

And this sizzling season for the Aggies doesn't appear to be a one-year flash. A&M could return every major contributor next spring except for Lunt, who will become a volunteer assistant coach for Denton.

Krajicek has pro potential, but he seems to be leaning on returning for his senior year. Perhaps, he senses there could be too much fun to be had in the maroon and white.

"If we show up," says Krajicek, "we're as good as anybody in the country, if not better." ■

Lunt playing, and coaching, for A&M men's tennis team

By RICHARD CROOME

And then the muttering begins.

It's a scene the Texas A&M men's tennis team has watched plenty of times over the past two seasons. And it's one they pay little attention to now thanks to senior co-captain Marcus Lunt.

Often held out of singles, Lunt doesn't sulk over the missed playing time but instead perches himself on the coach's bench at Grigorov's court. From there he's taken on the responsibility of keeping his doubles partner's head focused on the task at hand.

"[Grigorov] is probably not the easiest guy to coach, so we're really testing [Lunt]," A&M head coach Steve Denton said. "We give Griggy a gameplan, what we want him to do out there, and Marcus tries to keep him in the match. He's done a good job, and Griggy's had a good year."

Grigorov is a team-best 20-5 in dual-matche singles with Lunt watching over him. He earned the Big 12 championship at No. 4 singles with a 5-1 record.

"It's been really fun, first and foremost," Lunt said of his coaching role. "I've had a blast, and I know he's had a blast. There is just this really unique kind of bond between us."

By his own admission, Grigorov is the kind of player who doesn't want to listen to anyone when things aren't going well.

Lunt has a knack of picking the right times to encourage Grigorov -- or leave him alone. He says his main objective is to make sure Grigorov is having fun.

"When he's playing his worst, sometimes I have to reiterate, 'Hey, smile a little bit,'" Lunt said. "When he's just lost a point or when he's at the back of the fence thinking and getting frustrated, I'll look at him and I'll put my fingers on my cheeks and smile. He laughs and has learned to shrug it off."

Grigorov believes it's a good combination for him because Lunt is older knows how to toe that line of speaking or shutting up.

"It's just a good chemistry," Grigorov said.

And the moments when Lunt has had to back off, not worsen the situation, appear to be lessening.

"There have been times he's frustrated and I look at him and he puts his hands up saying, 'Yeah, yeah, I got it,'" Lunt said. "He does see things most the times his way, and sometimes I let him say this or that and don't say anything. Then after a few games, he'll come up to me and ask, 'OK, what do I?'

"So I've kind of figured you just let him vent a little bit, let him say what he wants to say, and he'll ask you for advice eventually when things aren't working or he's losing."

Last season, the coaches would interact with Grigorov during matches, which wasn't always the best combination for either party.

The results weren't much better. Playing at the same spot as this season, Grigorov went 10-9 in dual-match singles.

"I'm getting a little gray-headed, and there is no reason to have to suffer all the time," Denton says jokingly. "Griggy has come around. I'm proud of him. He's a confident kid, and Marcus has done a really good job helping him and encouraging him."

The bond goes beyond the singles court. Lunt and Grigorov have become a formidable doubles team, most recently gaining the clinching point at No. 2 to put A&M up 1-0 in the Big 12 tournament final over No. 3 Texas. The Longhorns won 4-3, but the Aggies improved on the 7-0 shutout they suffered to their rivals during the regular season.

Winning a tough doubles match has become part of Lunt's senior legacy. He leads A&M with a team-best 21-6 record in dual-match doubles. He's 9-1 when playing with Grigorov and 12-5 with partner Alexis Klegou.

In the NCAA tournament this weekend at the Mitchell Tennis Center, Lunt and Grigorov will play No. 2 doubles where they have won six straight matches.

"We had a rule at the beginning of the year, as a joke, that if Griggy and I were going to play doubles in the spring that [coach] wasn't allowed to talk to Griggy on our court," Lunt said.

College tennis hasn't always been a joking matter for Lunt, who went 12-11 at No. 5 singles last season and has cracked A&M's singles lineup just nine times this season. When he has, he's made the most of it, going 8-1 on the sixth line.

"He's been ready," Denton said. "We've called on him several times in big matches. Against Texas he played Vasko Mladenov, who had not lost a Big 12 match and beat him in straight sets. He showed a lot of senior leadership there, too."

It's been an unusual situation for the senior who is used to contributing on the court, but it's also been a chance for Lunt to help the team -- winning when he plays and helping Grigorov win when he doesn't.

"It's been different but not hard or bad," Lunt said. "I haven't had any 'Oh, dang, why aren't I playing?' type feelings. "When they put me in, they ask if I'm ready and I say 'always.'"

That attitude has not gone unnoticed by Denton nor his teammates.

"He's shown that there are a lot of ways to contribute to the success of a team," Denton said. "He's been a great team captain. When we first started the spring, we thought he'd be playing singles all the time, but he struggled a bit at the beginning, so he took this other role of playing doubles and supporting the other guys. Now he's playing really good singles again."

Lunt is playing well enough that he could get the call at No. 6 this weekend. And if the Aggies advance to Athens, Ga., the senior could find himself on the sixth line in the NCAA Championships.

Of course, if Lunt's playing on No. 6, suddenly the Aggies have a missing man on No. 4.

"We have a little bit of a dilemma because Marcus could possibly play some singles," Denton said. "We had to leave Griggy alone last week, but he was able to handle it. I didn't mess him up too badly, and I don't think [assistant coach Bob McKinley] did."

On a weekend when more than 6,500 Aggies ended their academic careers, it seems hardly fitting that a freshman kept the Texas A&M men's tennis season going at least one match longer.

Aggie freshman Alberto Bautista beat Adrian Forberg Skogeng 5-7, 7-5, 6-4 for the clinching point in A&M's 4-2 victory over Mississippi in the NCAA second round Saturday at Mitchell Tennis Center.

A&M (25-6) will play the winner of Baylor vs. Rice in the Sweet 16 at 2 p.m. Friday in Athens, Ga. Baylor and Rice are set to play their second-round match at 2 p.m. Sunday in Waco.

Bautista also won the final point Friday in A&M's 4-0 first-round victory over Prairie View A&M.

"As a freshman, it feels good," Bautista said. "Going to the Big 12 championship and almost getting a ring and now getting to the Sweet 16, this is great. I've never had this good of coaches in Bob [McKinley] and Steve [Denton]. It's been a great experience.

"We've been getting ready all season long, so I don't feel nervous. I used to feel nervous, but not anymore."

A&M started off well, winning the doubles point with a pair of 8-6 decisions at Nos. 2 and 3 doubles.

Senior Marcus Lunt and junior Alexey Grigorov won first on the second line to stay a perfect 8-0 this season, beating Jonas Lutjen and Tucker Vorster. Playing with sophomore Colin Hoover, Bautista also clinched the doubles point on the third line against Ole Miss' Adrian Forberg Skogeng and Harry Fowler.

"The doubles does help, but we've lost a couple matches when we've won the doubles, like at Texas when we weren't able to get three singles matches," A&M head coach Denton said. "The difference is we were able to play at our home court in front of our home crowd. Our guys were just a little better at the end, but there wasn't much different between these two teams."

A&M is in the Sweet 16 for the 10th time. The 25 victories also are A&M's most since going 27-4 in 2001.

Getting No. 25 seemed in doubt as the singles wore on. A&M won four of the six first sets but split five of the six second sets as Mississippi (19-8) hung tough.

A&M's Jeff Dadamo was the only Aggie not to split, losing 6-3, 6-4 to Vorster at No. 2. Vorster's victory evened the team score at 1-1.

Lunt soon finished off Harry Fowler 6-0, 3-6, 6-4 on the sixth line to reclaim the lead for A&M.

Then the Aggies suffered the worst of omens.

After winning his first set 6-2, A&M's top-liner Austin Krajicek lost the next two sets 6-3, 6-3 to Marcel Thiemann. The loss pushed the team score back into a tie at 2, but worse, it put the Aggies in a hole they hadn't climbed out of the only two times they'd fallen into it this season. Twice A&M lost at Nos. 1 and 2 singles; twice, the Aggies lost those dual matches to Texas.

"It was a tough match," Denton said. "We were in a little bit of control, and things started going Ole Miss' way. They fought us well, and it looked for a little while like we weren't going to win this match."

Grigorov gave A&M it's third team lead of the match by beating Jonas Lutjen 6-2, 4-6, 6-4 at No. 3. Grigorov fell behind 3-2 in the third set but held serve, broke Lutjen's serve to take a 4-3 lead and held from there to put A&M up 3-2.

Needing just one of the two matches remaining, A&M appeared to be back in control with both Alexis Klegou at No. 4 and Bautista at No. 5 holding 5-3 leads in the third set.

Trying to serve out his match, Klegou took a 15-love lead over Chris Thiemann, who took an injury timeout because of muscle cramps.

That gave Bautista all the time he needed to get back his serve and clinch the match for A&M.

"I just tried to make good shots and hope [Skogeng] would give up or make a mistake," Bautista said. "It takes a lot of experience, working with the coaches and working with the team. It really paid off."

It also put A&M in the Sweet 16 for the second straight year -- a victory laced with just a sprinkle of revenge.

Ole Miss beat A&M 4-1 in the Sweet 16 last year when the Championships were at the Mitchell Tennis Center. Now the Aggies are headed to historic Dan Magill Tennis Complex where they will try to match or better their best NCAA performance, 2001's run to the Elite Eight.

"It was a great team win. I know the guys really wanted to go to Athens badly," Denton said. "Sometimes you get a little tight, and I think that happened to us. But the guys were able to relax, and we got the win."
