teamed with Aggies Sarah Ammerman and Kristen Schevikhoven to lead FRVC to a fifth-place finish at the 2006 Junior Olympic Volleyball Championships, as well as the 2006 AAU national championship.

- Nebraska reached the 20-win plateau with its win at Oklahoma on Oct. 25. The Huskers have won at least 20 matches every year in program history (a total of 34 years).

- John Cook (San Diego '79) is 271-17, including 166-7 in Big 12 matches only, in his ninth season as head coach of the Huskers.

THE A&M-NEBRASKA ALL-TIME SERIES

- Nebraska leads the series, 28-6, including 16-0 in matches played in Lincoln.

- The Huskers are 23-2 in Big 12 matches only against A&M and have won the last 18 meetings.

- The Aggies' 18-match losing skid against Nebraska marks A&M's longest active losing streak against a single opponent.

- A&M's two Big 12 wins against the Huskers came in 1998 and 1999, both five-set victories at G. Rolie White Coliseum in College Station.

- Nebraska has swept the Aggies in each of the last 10 meetings.

- In the most recent meeting, Nebraska, which entered the Oct. 22 contest riding a 50-match home winning streak, topped A&M 25-16, 25-18, 25-13 to improve to 19-0 overall and conclude the first half of Big 12 Conference play at 10-0.

All-American outside hitter Jordan Larson and Tara Mueller each hit above .400 while leading the Huskers with 13 kills apiece. Amanda Gates posted a match-high eight blocks to lead Nebraska to an 11.5 to 3 advantage in blocks and a .319 to .106 hitting advantage.

QUICK HITS:

- The match against the Huskers concludes a grueling seven-match stretch in which the Aggies will have played a combined five matches against the top three teams in the Big 12, including two matches each against league-leading Nebraska and second-place Texas, who were each ranked in the top three in the nation.

Wednesday to move into ninth place in the A&M career records. In only her second season with the Aggies, Schevikhoven has 1,884 career assists.

- Senior middle blocker Darla Donaldson, the only A&M player to have played in every set this season, ranks fourth in the Big 12 with 1.06 blocks per set in conference matches only. In addition, she is hitting .318 to rank 10th in the league in Big 12 matches only.

- The match against No. 3 Nebraska will be A&M's league-leading 10th match against a ranked opponent this season. A&M is 1-8 against ranked opponents, while Nebraska is 5-0 against Top 25 teams. Oklahoma is second for most ranked opponents with eight. The Sooners are at No. 16 Kansas State on Wednesday.

- A&M ranks in the top five in the Big 12 for fewest kills allowed (12.41), fewest assists allowed (11.45), fewest digs allowed (13.08) and fewest blocks allowed (2.07) per set in Big 12 matches only.

- Senior middle blocker Jillian Phillips, who has missed 19 matches with a stress fracture in her lower leg, played in the last four points in the match at Kansas State on Wednesday. It was her first appearance since Oct. 4 in a match against Missouri. She was unable to play at Texas on Saturday. Last year, Phillips played in every match and led the team and ranked seventh in the Big 12 with 1.21 blocks per game in Big 12 matches.

- A&M held Texas Tech to a .029 hitting percentage in Lubbock on Oct. 11, the lowest by an A&M Big 12 opponent since the Aggies held Iowa State to a .016 hitting efficiency on Sept. 27, 2002. Meanwhile, the Aggies themselves hit a season-high .387 against the Lady Raiders, the highest by an A&M team since the Aggies hit .402 at Kansas on Oct. 6, 2007, a span of 31 matches.

- In spite of injury-plagued A&M's makeshift lineup against Kansas on Oct. 8, the Aggies hit .311, the Aggies' highest hitting percentage in a five-set Big 12 match since hitting .378 in a five-setter at Missouri on Nov. 26, 2005. In addition, A&M posted 15 blocks, one shy of its season high, which the Aggies set against Missouri in the previous match.

- Junior outside hitters Mary Batis and Sarah Ammerman each surpassed 1,000 career points earlier this season. Batis, who leads the team and ranks 10th in the Big 12 with 3.81 points per set, surpassed 1,000 points for her career after posting 24.5 points against Oklahoma on Sept. 21. She now ranks third in the A&M career records with 1,170.5.

Ammerman recorded 15.5 points against Missouri on Oct. 4 to surpass 1,000 points. Ammerman, who is second on the team with 3.37 points per set, now has 1,107 for her career and needs only 29 more points to move into fourth in the A&M records.

- Jennifer Banse's career-high 24 digs against Oklahoma on Sept. 21 marked the most digs in a match by an A&M player since former libero Holly Clay had 28 at Texas Tech on Oct. 22, 2005. The junior outside hitter ranks third on the team with 2.24 digs per set for the full season.

- A&M's win against No. 16 BYU on Sept. 6 was the Aggies' highest ranked victory since upsetting No. 9 Texas on Oct. 16, 2004, in College Station. Prior to the BYU match, A&M's most recent win against a ranked opponent was against No. 22 Minnesota on Sept. 2, 2006, at the Billiken Invitational in Saint Louis.

RECENT RESULTS

Texas A&M's upset bid against No. 3 Texas fell short as the Longhorns held off the Aggies, 25-19, 26-24, 25-20, Saturday in the State Farm Lone Star Showdown at Gregory Gym in Austin.

Texas came from behind in each of the first two sets and held the lead throughout most of the final set to win its ninth consecutive match against A&M and improve to 19-4 on the season, including 9-3 in Big 12 Conference matches.

A&M, facing its third top-20 opponent in four matches, dropped to 10-13, 5-8.

Texas used a 5-1 run to take a 12-8 lead in the opening set. A&M then began to rally, outscoring the Longhorns 8-1 and forcing Texas to burn both of its timeouts. With A&M leading 16-13, the Longhorns scored four unanswered points, two on aces by Destinee Hooker, to regain the lead. A&M tied the score at 17 and 18 before Texas began to pull away with three straight points. Sarah Ammerman ended Texas' run with a kill, but Texas countered with a kill by Juliann Faucette, and three consecutive attack errors by the Aggies ended the set.

Texas fought off four set points in the second stanza, scoring six consecutive points to take the set, 26-24. The Aggies had taken an 11-10 lead before a kill by Texas tied the set for the sixth time. A&M then reeled off three points and later used a four-point run to build its biggest lead at 19-14.

The teams exchanged sideouts until, with A&M up 23-18, Lauren Paolini posted a kill and then teamed with Rachael Adams for a block to put the Horns within 23-20. Jennifer Banse got a kill to put the Aggies at set point, but two kills by Hooker and two attack errors by the Aggies knotted the score at 24. Adams and Hooker then blocked a Mary Batis attack, and Adams followed with a kill on an overpass to complete the come-from-behind win for the Horns.

The score was tied four times early in the third set with the last one coming at 5-5. Texas then went on a 7-2 run to go up 12-7. A&M got back within two points at 12-10 and 13-11 but was unable to get any closer as the Horns outhit the Aggies, .667 to .214 in the final set.

Jennifer Banse led A&M with 10 kills while hitting .318. Setter Kristen Schevikhoven led the Aggies with eight digs, and Kelsey Bryant and Banse had a team-leading two blocks apiece.

Hooker finished with 13 kills to lead the Longhorns, who outhit A&M, .344 to .121 and outblocked the Aggies, 9-6, for the match.

NOTABLES

- A&M among national attendance leaders: Texas A&M ranks No. 17 in the country for home attendance, drawing an average of 1,624 per match. The Aggies are 7-3 in home matches this season compared to 2-7 in away matches and 1-3 at neutral sites.

• Sykora dons Olympic silver: Former Aggie volleyball All-American Stacy Sykora and the U.S. Women's Volleyball Olympic Team captured a silver medal at the Olympics in Beijing, equaling USA Volleyball's best finish in the history of the Games.

Sykora, a defensive specialist for Team USA and A&M's only three-time Olympian, saw action in both the second and fourth sets in the see-saw gold medal match that climaxed in an intense fourth set that saw both teams exchanging numerous leads. The top-ranked Brazilians, who had not lost a single set in the entire tournament until the gold-medal match, came through in the end, 25-15, 18-25, 25-13, 25-21, to win their first-ever gold medal in the sport.

It is the first medal for Sykora (Burleson, Texas), who served as USA's libero in 2000 and 2004. In addition, it is only the third Olympic medal for USA women's volleyball and their first since winning a bronze medal in 1992 in Barcelona. The silver medal ties the 1984 team for USA's highest finish. Aggie head coach Laurie Corbelli was a member of the '84 team, and Sykora wears the No. 5 jersey in honor of her former coach.

USA, ranked fourth in the world, exceeded expectations, defeating second-ranked Italy in the quarterfinals and third-ranked Cuba in the semifinals to reach the gold-medal match.

• Aggies capture A&M Invitational crown: The Aggies won their own Texas A&M Invitational earlier this season after going 3-0 against the tournament field. A&M defeated American, 3-1, Siena, 3-0, and No. 16 BYU, 3-1. All three teams were NCAA Championship participants last season, as American and Siena both received automatic bids by winning their conference tournament and BYU earned an at-large berth and advanced to the regional finals.

Mary Batis was named MVP of the Texas A&M Invitational. She was joined on the all-tournament team by Sarah Ammerman and Kelsey Bryant.

• A&M faces tough schedule: Nineteen of A&M's 30 regular-season are against teams that advanced to the 2007 NCAA tournament, including a total of five matches against regional finalists BYU, Nebraska and Texas. A total of 12 matches are against teams that advanced to at least the second round of the NCAA's, and 10 matches will be against teams that ranked in the 2007 final Top 25 Poll.

A&M is slated to play 12 matches against teams that were ranked in the 2008 preseason Top 25 — two matches each against Big 12 teams No. 3 Texas, No. 7 Nebraska, No. 14 Kansas State and No. 18 Iowa State, in addition to non-conference foes Minnesota, BYU, LSU and San Diego, ranked No. 16, 20, 21 and 22, respectively.

• Aggies get early start with trip to Europe: The Texas A&M volleyball team, including the four newcomers who joined the team in January, took advantage of the NCAA's once-every-four-year foreign tour rule, playing eight matches in Europe in June. The Aggies, who had two weeks of practice leading up to the trip, departed June 11 for Rome, where they defeated Fidia, a B1 club team that ranks a level below the Italian professional league. A&M then went 1-1 against the Italian Junior National Team in Lignano Sabbiadoro, Italy, before heading to Slovenia. A&M defeated a Slovenian team consisting of a combination of players from both the youth and junior national teams. In a doubleheader the following day, A&M defeated the Slovenian Youth National Team and then came back from a two-set deficit to defeat the Slovenian Junior National Team.

For its final stop, A&M headed to Prague, Czech Republic, where the Aggies defeated a talented and hard-hitting Czech Republic Junior National Team. The Aggies closed out the tour with another impressive performance, taking Olymp Praha Volleyball — the level A1 defending champion in the Czech Republic professional league — to five sets. A&M finished the two-week tour 6-2.

• A winning combination: Kristen Schevikhoven and Sarah Ammerman were former teammates at Front Range Volleyball Club in Colorado. The duo led FRVC to the national title at the 2006 AAU Junior National Volleyball Championship, with Schevikhoven earning tournament MVP honors.

In addition, Jennifer Banse and Mary Batis were teammates at Alamo Volleyball Association and were the champions at the 2003 Junior Olympics 15 Open Division.

Kelsey Black had won a state championship as a junior at Amarillo High School in 2006 and then teamed with senior newcomer Stephanie Wells to successfully defend the title. The Lady Sandies became the first Texas Class 5A team to repeat as state champions in more than 20 years.

Stephanie Minnerly and Chelsea Ringel were teammates at Texas Advantage and Arlington Martin High School, where they helped lead the Warriors to the state 5A title in 2005.
