

When Precision Matters

Make every input count with expert advice and custom prescriptions, all season long.

Take control of field variability and make the most of every seeding, fertility and nitrogen input. With Granular Agronomy, you get unlimited access to the expertise of a local Granular Certified Services Agent (CSA). Every recommendation we make and prescription we provide, from seeding rate to in-season fertilizer adjustments, is based on decades of Corteva's industry-leading research and patented agronomic models, and is customized to your farm.

Is it right for your farm?

- Have you noticed yield variability within your fields?
- Are you missing the expertise or time to consider all the variables that impact fertility?
- Do you have years of yield data sitting unused in a desk drawer?
- Want help maximizing the ROI of every input using variable rate technology?
