ANCIENT CIVILIZATION WINE

Phoenician trade routes: Morocco, Israel, Lebanon, Greece, Cyprus, etc. The wines of Phoenicia had such an enduring presence in the Greek and Roman world that the adjective “Bybline”—from the Phoenician town of Byblos—became a byword denoting wine of high quality.

Chateau Musar

GHAZIR, LEBANON

Winemaking in the territory now known as Lebanon is said to have started more than 6000 years ago, but came to the attention of the international wine world only in 1984, when Serge Hochar was named Man of the Year by the English “bible of wine”, Decanter Magazine, which cited his perseverance and dedication to his vineyards and to his winemaking in spite of the war being waged throughout Lebanon at that time.

If you have not experienced Hochar’s splendid wines, you owe it to yourself to try Chateau Musar, and there’s no time like the present.

OLD WORLD WINE

Roman spread of viticulture, “Old World” countries have a long-established history of wine production and are predominately from Western Europe—most notably, France, Italy, Germany, Spain, and Portugal—These are the original sources of the New World’s vitis vinifera vines.

RHÔNE VALLEY

“If I could be anywhere other than where I am, it would be the Côte-Rôtie.”

- overheard at Aba

Rolling fields, sun-drenched hills, and a warm Mediterranean breeze blowing in from the south. The Rhône Valley is renowned for wines of prestige and power. From the lifted, aromatic wines of the Côte-Rôtie to the savory, focused cuvées of Châteauneuf-du-Pape - there are no wrong choices when you're in the valley.

NEW WORLD WINE

“Immigrant” vines from the Old World. Wines produced outside the traditional wine-growing areas of Europe and the Middle East—Argentina, Australia, Chile, New Zealand, South Africa and the United States.

Phelan Farm

Wines of the Pacific

Sourced from California coastal vineyards farmed by legendary sommelier-turned-producer, Raj Parr, these wines utilize a unique natural farming technique that takes inspiration from permaculture & biodynamics. Rather than using heavy machinery, a herd of sheep & goats roam the property keeping the weeds at bay (protected by the winery's canine friends, Fleurie and Leroy).

Phelan Farm exemplifies an ethos that great wines can be made without compromising the health of the land and the people that live on it for years to come.
