ANCIENT CIVILIZATION WINE

Phoenician trade routes: Morocco, Israel, Lebanon, Greece, Cyprus, etc. The wines of Phoenicia had such an enduring presence in the Greek and Roman world that the adjective “Bybline”—from the Phoenician town of Byblos—became a byword denoting wine of high quality.

Chateau Musar

GHAZIR, LEBANON

Winemaking in the territory now known as Lebanon is said to have started more than 6000 years ago, but came to the attention of the international wine world only in 1984, when Serge Hochar was named Man of the Year by the English “bible of wine”, Decanter Magazine, which cited his perseverance and dedication to his vineyards and to his winemaking in spite of the war being waged throughout Lebanon at that time.

If you have not experienced Hochar’s splendid wines, you owe it to yourself to try Chateau Musar, and there’s no time like the present.

OLD WORLD WINE

Roman spread of viticulture, “Old World” countries have a long-established history of wine production and are predominately from Western Europe—most notably, France, Italy, Germany, Spain, and Portugal—These are the original sources of the New World’s vitis vinifera vines.

BRUNELLO DI MONTALCINO

The famed Hill of Montalcino, situated due south of Siena in Tuscany, is unequivocally the home to the greatest expression of the Sangiovese grape. With growing disparity between modern and traditional styles, as well as differences in terroir found on the North Vs. South sides of the hill, Brunello has become a diverse option for the most discerning of palates.

NEW WORLD WINE

“Immigrant” vines from the Old World. Wines produced outside the traditional wine-growing areas of Europe and the Middle East—Argentina, Australia, Chile, New Zealand, South Africa and the United States.

WHITCRAFT WINERY

Drake Whitcraft embodies the ethos of minimal intervention winemaking in Santa Barbara. These ultra-limited production wines are entirely hand-harvested and use no machinery in production. The only things that turn on in his winery are his laptop and a small kegerator.

Our selections focus on terroir-driven, single vineyard expressions of each varietal that burst from the glass with a purity of purpose.
