

SOURCE MATERIALS

Desda Zuckerman

With the publication of her long awaited book, Your Sacred Anatomy: An Owner's Guide to the Human Energy Structure in December, 2012 and the advent of The Essential Edge Practice, a special training in the Sacred Anatomy Energy Medicine cornerstone skill of the edge technique for healers in February, 2013 it became clear the next step was to bring forth an energy medicine training for professional healers.

The SAEM Medicine Bag trainings are the first offering Ms. Zuckerman has ever made to the larger healing community for comprehensive training and certification in her energy working techniques and procedures based in the subtle anatomy of the Human Energy Structure without becoming a SAEM Practitioner. At last, these sacred anatomy teachings are publicly revealed to benefit and support all healers, seekers and students of human potential.

For more information about classes: www.yoursacredanatomy.com

Native Californian, Desda

Zuckerman has made a life study of the subtle energies surrounding all living things. What began as a personal quest for understanding blossomed into a comprehensive mapping of human energy anatomy and its precise application. This has been distilled into Sacred Anatomy Energy Medicine an intentional holistic modality that represents a new paradigm for healing work. For the last thirty years, she has quietly taught classes, trained apprentices, and led healing sessions with thousands of clients.