Masked Connection Regulator (Elements of Connection)

Harmonizing Network Procedure

What?

When deregulation of the elements of connection as an adaptive system occurs they can become dense with debris, waste, and excess picked up from the soul layer. This type of randomly appearing superfluous energy is often fast moving and cluttered with deconstructed energy that is no longer associated with any focus or attachment. It is essentially the extra unclaimed baggage humans drag around within the soul layer.

The result in the life is a sense of heaviness and a need for constant clearing. This is never enough. In fact that might be the theme to this pathology- never enough: love, time, money, concern, care etc.... There is a sense of not being seen realistically and also of having to take care of absolutely everyone and everything- trying hard to regulate life itself. In fact, life is exhausting and there is definitely not enough variety or energy in the everyday experience.

Why?

As they acquire this useless excess, the elements of connection start to become dense, chaotic and confused. This causes the connection regulator and the elemental filaments to clog and breakdown. In essence a mask has been forced over a part of the anatomy that usually demonstrates a calm and straightforward demeanor- no drama- just action- is the typical behavior of the elements of connection. This mask is forcing anatomy that is useful and fast-acting to become less able to function. It will slow down over time maybe even grind to a halt in places. Needless to say, this result causes the life to become derailed.

Because this dense debris is lacking in commitment it is unfocused and empty of attachment. The result is that other streams of energy in the soul layer that are dedicated to specific use and are showing a high attachment value are pulled into the messy garbage pile the elements of connection have become. This causes a kind of misdirection of function and use and the elements of connection start to move toward each other making a heavy, lumpy mess and losing the distinctions necessary to create powerful colored streams. The elements of connection have become over-run and are now serving a conglomerate of entangled knotted energies; instead of manifesting the power of the connections being made between one frequency and another to form a third. This anatomy has lost the plot and it is weirdly undertaking a perversion of what it is meant to do but certainly not in the way it was meant to do it.

How?

Depression and fatigue are common occurrences for people suffering from a Masked Elements of Connection pathology. One lady I treated recently said after being relived of this problem: "It is as if I simply didn't have enough energy. Like I have seen the world through thick glasses that distorted my experience of what was possible. Seeing clearly is amazing!"

Consider the need for this piece if depression or unending grief is present. A Masked Connection Regulator affects the elemental filaments and the connection regulator making all parts of the anatomy less functional. It is not necessary to determine which part of the anatomy is experiencing pathology. This procedure treats the entire system and will resolve the fundamental issues. Your goal is to achieve an integrated and homogeneous energetic for the clean functioning of the elements of connection so the client can rely on themselves and feel the independence of self-healing.

Masked Connection Regulator

1. Using the Edge Practice, request permission.
2. Determine need by dowsing and interview.

3. Check to see if the % of effectiveness of
 - a. The Harmonizing Network is under 70%. If it is- Masked Connection Regulator is a real possibility
 - b. The % of effectiveness of the Blended Energies System will also be under 70%. If it is higher and you still suspect Masked Connection Regulator, assume that the BES is blocking progress toward resolution.
 - c. Do a BES Clearing and recheck the numbers. The BES should read around 70% or below now.
4. Now, check to see if the elements of connection are less than 100% effectiveness. Anything less than 100%- continue on with this procedure.
5. Place the client in a large sticky box- condense the box around them and massage them through the box.
6. Condense the box and remove it calling upon Archangel Michael.
7. Surround them in Universal Love and Light, bring in Sense of Function, Sense of Purpose and Sens of Wisdom.
8. Bring in Harmonizing the Harmonizing Network
9. Set the connection regulator by bringing in: Regulate (yellow with vibrant blue splashes)
10. Check to determine the % of effectiveness. All should read 100%.:
 - a. Elements of connection
 - b. Connection regulator
 - c. Elemental filaments
 - d. Harmonizing Network
 - e. Blended Energies System
11. Bring in Harmonizing the Harmonizing Network and Harmonizing the BES
12. IBWSIB
