Vertical Elimination Wheels, QR and Attachments Quantum Resonance & Greater Elimination Health

Vertical Wheels are pulled to the Quantum Resonance that is coursing through the QR Tubes in the core sheath and then is also pulled out again by the QR generated in the Vertical Wheel tracks. This side pumping action is generated by the movement of the friction demonstrated between pure QR and the downgraded QR in the tracks that has attachment contained within it. Pure and impure QR is not compatible but is enough alike [Like attracts like.] that it attempts to function together and only when the two combine does the pure reject the dirty energy.

What makes the energy impure is that it pulls into itself attachments. This attached QR serves to slow down release and forces the tracks and the tubes in the core sheath to generate more QR to contradict the attachment. Ultimately, the friction between the QR and attachments generate greater capacity in the Elimination System and this leads to more powerful release that can overcome attachment as it is forced out of the tracks and rejected from the vertical wheels into the 5 rotating and pulsing horizontal Elimination wheels.

Lubrication from the Quantum Resonance as it emerges osmotically out from the sides of the tubes in the core sheath and the vertical wheel tracks help generate Quantum Resonance throughout the HES. Attachments produce a sticky and clinging energy that catches in and clogs up the workings of the System and can clog up the ability of the structure to move forward or release old and useless patterns. The vertical wheels continue to expand and contract as they spin around the vertical tracks. This eventually leads them to become polluted as they also move through the 5 horizontal wheels that are busy collecting debris and waste from every System. The good news is that the dirty attached energy turns up the QR and triumphs, rejecting the attachment and releasing the debris effectively from the structure into the universal through the Elimination System that treats this extra boost like Wheaties!
