

Types of Energies

The student of Sacred Anatomy Energy Medicine uses a virtually unlimited and ever growing list of Source Energies as tools, helpers, cleaning agents and replenishers. We begin in the earliest classes learning to “make friends with the energies” for benefit and healing and keep adding more to the list over time until finally, in advanced classes, there is a good number of energies all Practitioners have access to... and it keeps on growing all the time.

Dividing them into different categories gives us more clarity about how to use these energy working “power tools” and when they will be most or least effective. Examples of these different types are listed (this is not a complete listing of all energies- just 7 or each as examples).

Multipurpose- can be used in several or in all areas and perform multiple functions at once
