

Astral Fragments

Astral Fragments are how the Astral reproduces. They are bits left behind after an incomplete removal by somebody with inadequate training or hygiene. These are also sometimes seen in structures of people who have been prayed over to cast out the devil or a demon. The desire of religious demon removers is genuine and well founded in love for their fellow man but there may be a disconnection between the actual Astral and the idea of it being a demon. Most people will feel as if they are possessed by a demon or “a victim of the devil” if you will; but will balk at the idea they are somehow demonic.

The acceptance that our own dark and nasty shadow is this demonic energy means we are one with All indeed. There is nothing we do not contain within us and nothing we are not capable of perpetrating either in this life or the last. We sincerely have the power to choose who and what we are.

Because it is part of the human shadow it must be embraced and educated into harmony instead of cast out, dismissed and hated or thrown away like garbage. The most pernicious Astrals belong to those people who have the greatest gift for doing good and who usually are horrified at the thought they could be the root of evil within their own reality.

An Astral will not fully leave if there are fragments remaining behind as they act like seeds to grow new demonic presences. With an incomplete removal now, instead of a single Astral Entity there may arise in the wake of a partial removal over time, multiple Astral Entities.
