

INFORMATION ON DATA PROCESSING – LED drawing board

1. Device characteristics

The LED drawing board is a lighting device intended for sketching and tracing. The device operates only through electrical/USB power supply and does not have any communication functions.

2. Scope of data processing

The LED board does not collect, store or transmit any personal or technical data.

3. Connectivity and related services

The device does not connect to other devices or to the network. It does not work with any application or online service.

4. Data controller

The product does not process personal data, therefore there is no entity responsible for such processing.