

APIID-Your Academic Portfolio

AN INNOVATIVE SOCIAL NETWORK PLATFORM

Overview

APID stands for Academic Profile ID. It is an innovative social network for researchers, scholars, academicians, and students. It is built to help you build your academic profile, network with peers, collaborate, and share your research results broadly. APID allows researchers, scholars, academicians, and students to showcase their contributions to the research community and broadcast ideas to others. Continually updating articles, research, and scholarly achievements, reviewing articles, and updating comments with a global perspective strengthens academic relationships.

APID facilitates immediate access to research results and offers academic networking opportunities. It organizes your academic accomplishments, experiences, and skill development.

APIDs allows researchers to update all their published articles and research all at once, update their academic achievements, review articles, and update comments from around the world.

Mission

APID is dedicated to disseminating scholarly research work profiles to a global audience. It is believed that wide circulation adds value to published work and inextricably mixes the right to know and the right to be known. APID ensures that researchers get better visibility and an overarching view of a particular field and uncover trends and connections within their own.
