Local Hazard Mitigation Plans

- Can be submitted as municipality, village, borough, “multijurisdictional”, or Native Alaskan Tribal plan
- Tribes may work directly with FEMA for approval of their plans; state involvement in development highly encouraged
- The Mitigation Team has a plan coordinator that is a valuable resource during plan development or updates, and will review plans prior to FEMA submission
- Specific requirements must be addressed in the LHMP
  - “a systematic evaluation of the nature and extent of vulnerability to the effects of natural hazards present... and includes actions needed to minimize future vulnerability”
- Forms the basis for mitigating risk in emergency situations; natural, man made, or human caused
