Energy Management

Century Pulp & Paper takes every effort to reduce its carbon footprint and impact to the environment. This is achieved by constantly making improvements to its operations in the following key areas :

- Power Consumption
- Waste Management
- Usage of Raw Materials and Conservation.

Power Consumption

The plant consumes approximately 14.0 lacs units per day, of which an estimated 95% of power is generated internally. Of this, 40% of CPP's power needs are met through the process of biomass waste in the form of black liquor, pith and sawdust.

Other Initiatives for conservation of energy include:

A. CONSERVATION OF ENERGY:

- a) Steps taken on conservation of energy:
 - i. Saving of energy usages through:
 1. HT feed pump running in pressure controller mode,
 2. VFD installed at cooling tower pumps,
 3. Energy efficient vacuum pump installed at line mud filter and Drag filters,
 4. Reduction in pumping energy loss at ETP and Recovery plant.
 - ii. To save steam, modified de-superheating system of evaporators
 - iii. MP heater commissioned in boilers to increase the feed water temperature and improve ER (coal to steam ratio)
 - iv. By optimising transformer loading and improvements in power factors, reduced electrical line losses
- b) Steps taken for utilising alternative sources of energy:
 - i. Increased usage of producer gas in place of furnace oil in Lime-kilns
 - ii. Continued usage of Black Liquor & Pith (Bio mass produd) for steam generation
 - iii. Continued usage of CMG at Tissue plant in place of LPG

B. TECHNOLOGY ABSORPTION:

- a) Efforts made towards technology absorption:
 - i. Retrofitting of ENMAS ESP to reduce boiler emissions
 - ii. Upgraded AC drives Bagasse paper machine.
 - iii. Upgraded HT protection relays for better fault level gradation
 - iv. Installation of Energy efficient motors in paper plants
- b) Benefits derived as a result of above efforts
 - i. Reduction in Power consumption.
 - ii. Quality Improvement.
 - iii. Reduction in Steam

CONSERVATION ACTS

Century Pulp & Paper runs a number of forest and water conservation initiatives in line with its corporate philosophy.

Forest conservation

- Bagasse and recycled waste paper used as a raw material eventually helps in conservation of forests
- ECF pulping at the new fibreline (pulp mill) is chlorine-free
- Installation of screw presses for effluent solids to be reused
- Steam prehydrolysis process at fibreline acts as an energy saver, helping in water conservation and reduction in effluent load
- Reuse of machine back water in the pulp mill after clarification and filtration process
- Reuse of RGP bleaching back water for washing of bagasse
- Ph liquor is mixed with weak black liquor, concentrated in the evaporator, and finally fired in the recovery boiler to curb pollution and generation of steam.

RAW MATERIALS

- Century Pulp & Paper follows local legislations closely as it is committed in the conservation of the environment and the protection of its stakeholders' interests. As a result, we adhere to major raw material requirements set by the Agro-forestry sector.
- Century Pulp & Paper uses a variety of raw materials and pulpable raw material species such as eucalyptus, poplar, vineer waste, bamboo, bagasse and recycled waste paper to manufacture its products.
- As a technologically advanced company, Century Pulp & Paper generates its own plantation activities by preparing high-yielding eucalyptus clones on one of the best soils in India. This increases the size of the catchment areas and fulfils our own raw material requirements.
- Century Pulp & Paper has its own chemical recovery process where we treat black liquor into white. This is done as black liquor is harmful to the environment when left as an effluent. The company also adopts wood-free paper manufacturing, where a chemical pulping process is used to create our products. Made from pulpwood, chemical pulp is not considered wood as most of the lignin is removed and separated from the cellulose fibres during processing. This is unlike mechanical pulp where it retains most of its wood components. In addition, wood-free paper is not as prone to yellowing as papers made of mechanical pulp.
- Due to its numerous capabilities, Century Pulp & Paper is known to house one of the most complex manufacturing setups under one roof.
