Head Coach Joe Mihalich: Now in his fifth season at the helm of the Hofstra Men's Basketball program, Joe Mihalich has engineered a strong resurgence of the Pride in four years. Mihalich has led Hofstra to 59 wins over the past three seasons and the Pride has averaged more than 17 wins a season since Mihalich took over a program coming off a seven-win campaign. Mihalich guided the Pride to 15 wins during the 2016-17 season and saw four players earn honors from the Colonial Athletic Association. The breakout year of Justin Wright-Foreman garnered him All-CAA Second Team accolades, while freshman Eli Pemberton picked up CAA All-Rookie Team honors after a strong first season in a Hofstra uniform. Mihalich, who guided the Niagara University to five postseason appearances during his tenure as the Purple Eagles head coach, was named the 12th head coach in the history of the Hofstra University Men's Basketball program on April 10, 2013. In four seasons at Hofstra, Mihalich has engineered a masterful revitalization of the Pride Basketball program as he took over a program coming off a seven-win campaign and in only three years took the team to back-to-back 20-win campaigns and consecutive postseason appearances. The 2015-16 team went 24-10, winning the regular season CAA title and advancing to the National Invitation Tournament. It marked the most wins for the program since the 2005-06 season and the regular season conference title was the program's first since joining the CAA in 2001. In addition, the NIT appearance was the program's first since 2007. Mihalich came to Hofstra after leading the Purple Eagles since 1998. During that time he won 265 games, earned a pair of NCAA Tournament berths and made three National Invitation Tournament (NIT) appearances.

Named after Hall of Famer and two-time NBA Most Valuable Player Karl Malone, the annual honor in its fourth year recognizes the top power forwards in Division I men's college basketball. A national committee comprised of top college basketball personnel determined the watch list of 20 candidates. In March, five finalists will be presented to Mr. Malone and the Hall of Fame's selection committee. The winner of the 2018 Karl Malone Award will be presented at the ESPN College Basketball Awards Show presented by Wendy's in Los Angeles, CA on Friday, April 6, 2018.
