

International Arbitration

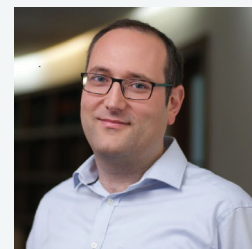

Legal 500 has identified us as one of the few top tier firms in this area for a reason, but the success and recognition we have received to date only makes us more determined to win for our clients in the future.

Asserson's International Arbitration group works for clients to deliver the best achievable results. The team offers clients extensive experience with arbitration institutions around the world including LCIA, ICC, ICSID, FINRA and UNCITRAL.

Led by globally recognised arbitration experts, Asserson has been praised for having "opened up English arbitration to Israeli business." The group, headed by Baruch Baigel, has acted for a number of household name brands in business defining arbitration cases. Baruch also sits on the panel of a number of global arbitral institutions. He is a Fellow of the Chartered Institute of Arbitrators, was appointed by the LCIA as the first ever Regional Representative for Israel, and he sits as Israel's delegate on the ICC's Commission on Arbitration and ADR.

Each of Trevor Asserson, Elliot Lister and Yisrael Hiller is listed by the directories as leaders in the field of arbitration and praised for their strategic skills and compelling advocacy.

The team brings together deep legal knowledge with commercial pragmatism and creative strategic flair. The success in doing so is reflected in the fact that Asserson represents substantial multinational businesses in disputes across sectors including banking and real estate, energy, sport, media and manufacturing. We act for and against parties around the world, with disputes from emerging markets now making up a substantial part of our practice.
