

Yeda Research and Development Company Ltd. is the commercial arm of the Weizmann Institute of Science. By commercializing the unique Intellectual Property (IP) developed by Weizmann Institute scientists, Yeda generates income that supports further basic research and science education. Our mission is to:

- Identify research projects with commercial potential
- Protect the IP of the Institute and its scientists
- Create business relationships, establish new ventures, and license the Institute's IP to the industry
- Channel funding from industry to research
