Inside 3035 Tech

What they say about us

We've been working with 3035TECH for over a decade, and they've been an essential part of our journey. From building our platform from the ground up to recently implementing the 30Chat Server that now handles thousands of daily orders across dozens of restaurants, their team has consistently delivered smart, reliable solutions. They understand our challenges, move fast, and always put our customers at the center — we truly see them as part of the LunchTeam.

Stuart McMullen

Co-Founder/CEO Lunch.Team

Working with you and the 3035TECH team has been great. Your team quickly understood our challenges and got the project moving. You gave me confidence in the software development process and made me comfortable throughout. It was also great to have the opportunity to meet with your team in person. Since this project directly impacts our customers, it meant a lot that you were there to support them. The integration has been a huge success for both our team and our customers.

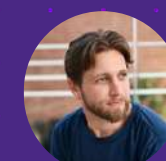

Brain Dennis

Co-Founder - The Fruit People

We've been working with the 3035TECH team for a few years across different projects, and it's been a great experience. We really value having their developers embedded within our team — they take the time to learn our internal processes and contribute just as effectively as our own engineers.
