Case study - "AHP KOS Zawał"

GÓRNOŚLĄSKIE CENTRUM MEDYCZNE
IM. PROF. LESZKA GIECA
Śląskiego Uniwersytetu Medycznego
w Katowicach

Description of use

- Implementation of the platform in a specialist cardiological center where the treatment of patients after a heart attack was coordinated.

Test group

- A group of 200 patients after a heart attack, medical staff and KOS program coordinator.

Results

- Patients are more willing to participate in the program and scrupulously follow the doctor's instructions.
- There is a noticeable decrease in the number of canceled visits and an improvement in the organization of patient care.

Second opinion programme in DE

Second opinion programs aim to support the decision-making process of patients and avoid procedures that are unnecessary from a medical point of view.
