Assessing, managing and improving the cyber performance of organisations

The solution provides insight into an organisation's cyber maturity and offers best practices and recommendations for improving its performance.

Cyber risk is now the number one risk for organisations, ahead of business interruption, inflation, energy crisis and climate change. In fact, 49% of companies were victims of a cyberattack in 2023. The damage can be considerable in terms of reputation, production and turnover. The consequences of a cyberattack can be even more serious: according to ANSSI, 60% of SMEs that have suffered a cyberattack file for bankruptcy within six months.

That is why we offer our Security Rating® solution to assess, manage and continuously improve your organisation's cyber performance.

This solution enables the security level of an organisation to be assessed. It is based on an automated, non-intrusive analysis of the organisation's assets, as well as questionnaires relating to cyber needs and maturity.
