We Bring the Miracle of Nature Together with Science

FellyHealer is a skin care brand developed with 100% natural snail extract, supporting skin health and standing out with its nature-friendly production approach. Our brand has been implemented under the roof of Glamify Cosmetics with sustainable agricultural practices and ethical production processes.

The snail extracts used in FellyHealer products are obtained at the highest purity in our own farm without harming nature and living creatures. Each of our products is formulated with the support of scientific R&D studies and laboratory analyses.

Our vision is to become a reliable, effective and sustainable brand in the national and international markets by combining natural ingredients with science.

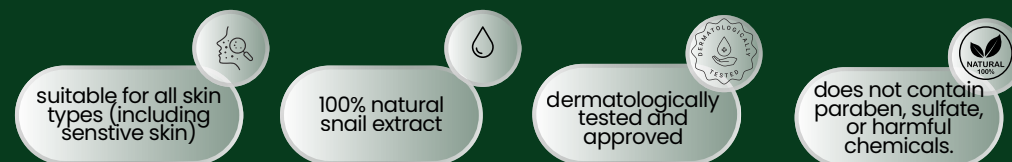

Our mission is to offer a production model that is animal-friendly and environmentally compatible while delivering the healing power of nature to the user.

FellyHealer is not just a cosmetic brand; it is the representative of the natural, clean and ethical beauty approach.

Why FellyHealer?

- Natural content, high-performance product portfolio
- Sustainable agriculture and production infrastructure
 - Tested, documented and user-friendly formulas
- Brand security, transparency and special solutions for business partners
 - Premium quality, accessible pricing policy

All test results, laboratory analyses, content documents and brand registration documents regarding our products and brand can be shared transparently upon request.

FELLYHEALER skin care products are approved by the Ministry of Health.
