

Le Pithos (Hong Kong, China) aims to provide a diverse source of international food imports, in particular foodstuff that came from a sustainable, organic and reliable source to the markets of Hong Kong, Mainland China and beyond.

In an age of globalisation, food choice diversity with a reliable sustainable source are an important matters for the catering and consumer markets.

We aim to source the best foodstuff ingredients from the highest quality European agricultural and foodstuff producers. Such as UK, Spain, France and Italy.

Majority of which are organic, artisanal, with distinctive local characters that are already reputable in its originated country.

These products not only focus on quality taste and it's health benefits, but are also sustainably produced and often from smaller producers. Many of them has a long history in making of such high quality ingredients for the table in their local communities. They often awarded with European 'Protected Designation of Origin' (PDO)

Not to surprise these ingredients are often still not available in this part of the world. However it is a market that are in constant thirst for such quality foodstuff ingredients.

Le Pithos aim not only to satisfy the increasing demands of the consumers in these age with a taste of the foreign and exotic. But also to introduce the best quality foodstuff that are sustainable, healthy, gourmet and truly unusual in its nature.
