

Intercultural Leadership Coach | Bridging UK–Spain Creative & AV Collaboration

I'm an intercultural leadership coach supporting professionals and teams working between the UK and Spain to communicate more clearly, collaborate more effectively, and lead across cultures with confidence and awareness.

Having lived and worked across countries and cultures for many years, I help creative, AV and international teams move beyond “speaking the same language” to truly understanding how we think, decide, lead and work together.

My work focuses on the human side of international projects, where most friction, and most potential, lives.

I support teams and leaders through:

- Intercultural leadership coaching (1:1 and teams)
- Cross-cultural communication in English-led, multilingual environments
- Pre-project alignment sessions for UK–Spain collaborations
- Practical tools to surface unspoken assumptions, align expectations and build trust

I often work with teams at key moments:

- before an international project starts
- when collaboration feels heavy, unclear or inefficient
- when leaders want to strengthen how their teams work together across cultures

I believe strong international projects are built not only on talent and technology, but on clarity, trust and culturally aware leadership.

I'm happy to connect with:

- UK & Catalan AV and creative companies working internationally
- Producers, directors and team leaders managing multicultural teams
- Organisations interested in short workshops, talks or tailored sessions
- Partners who value long-term, human-centred collaboration

Beth Camprubí