Financial Controller

We fully recognize that each role in the business travel process has unique needs.

Whether you're a traveler, travel manager, budget controller, or all of the above, Travelr provides a personalized experience via its unique tools.

Traveller

- I'm on a business trip and want to make last-minute changes from both my computer and mobile device.
- I need all my tickets and vouchers in one platform.
- Always seeking the best and most flexible options.
- I prefer choices that align with my company's budget and policies.
- I need immediate assistance if my plans change.

- I want options that allow multiple bookings in a single or multiple searches.
- Business travelers must have immediate access to their tickets without my intervention.
- I want to view and manage bookings by employee or department from a single account.
- When I find a deal, I'd like to temporarily hold the price and issue & pay later.

Travel Manager

- I get flooded with emails every day and have bookmarked numerous airline, ferry, and hotel websites.
- I need an easy-to-use platform accessible from both computer and mobile
- Budget is crucial; I need to book based on budget per destination/role.
- I would like to avoid needing budget manager approval every time I make a booking.
- I'm looking for a platform that allows me to book my trips in advance for better rates

Financial Controller

- My budget is a top priority for me, but I don't want to be involved every time someone makes a booking. Ideally, I'd like to set the budget and step back.
- I want to maintain control over expenses by employee, department, or location. I need reports that clearly outline bookings and spending.
- I don't have time for account reconciliation. I need a travel platform where everything is transparent, automated, and accurate.
