Tropea and Capo Vaticano are the two most precious jewels of the Tyrrhenian coast of Calabria. Sightseeing tour of Tropea, the ancient Roman city of 'Tropis'. Tropea is known as the pearl of the Tyrrhenian Sea and is one of the most popular tourist destinations. The name of this city was first mentioned by Pliny the Elder in the 1st century AD. You will visit Tropea with its historic centre full of buildings steeped in history and typical shops. One of the oldest buildings in the historic centre is the cathedral from the Norman period. Inside are important works of art, such as the painting of the Madonna di Romania, patron saint of Tropea. From a terrace overlooking the sea in the town centre, you can admire the Sanctuary of Santa Maria dell'Isola, surrounded by white sand and the sea. From here you can enjoy the view of the Aeolian Islands. Then continue to Capo Vaticano. The Cape of Prophecies with its legendary lighthouse. It was here that the oracle foretold the future of sailors. Enjoy the view of the cliffs, bays and crystal-clear, turquoise-blue sea, said to be the turquoise-blue veil of a princess who was abducted here.

PIZZO CALABRO

Pizzo Calabro, eines der schönsten und bekanntesten Fischerdörfer, besticht durch seine charakteristischen engen Gassen und hübschen Plätze. Hier besuchen Sie die Höhlenkirche Piedigrotta, die steil über dem Meer in den Felsen gebaut wurde. Anschließend besichtigen Sie die aragonische Burg, in der Gioacchino Murat, der einst in Napoleons Diensten stand, erschossen wurde. Danach haben Sie die Möglichkeit, das berühmte Tartufo-Eis zu probieren, das in der ganzen Welt bekannt ist. Danach haben Sie Zeit zur freien Verfügung.

EOLIAN ISLANDS

SHARED € 80,00 PER PERSON

This wonderful mini-cruise takes you to the Aeolian Islands. The islands offer images of incomparable beauty such as grottos, picturesque bays and cliffs where nature has created unique and wonderful shapes. A visit to these islands is certainly a cultural and spiritual enrichment and guarantees you an unforgettable experience. The mini-cruise has the following stops: The first stop of the excursion is Vulcano. On the southernmost Aeolian island, you can not only enjoy a magnificent view, but also visit the sulphur springs near the harbor, which give the island its peculiar smell and make the volcanic activity directly tangible. The island's sulphur mud is said to have healing properties. We continue to Lipari, the most populous and largest of the Aeolian Islands. The town of the same name is considered the cultural and economic center of the island chain - here you can go for a stroll through the narrow streets or enjoy the view around the local castle and the Cathedral of San Bartolomeo. The island was inhabited as early as 4000 BC, with the ancient Romans, Saracens and Normans living here alongside the ancient Greeks. The partially elevated structure of the small town offers a wonderful view of the Tyrrhenian Sea.

Stromboli is the last stop on the excursion. It is the home island of the 900-metre-high volcano of the same name - one of Italy's four active volcanoes. Apart from two villages, the volcano occupies the entire surface of the twelve square kilometer island. The original villages of Stromboli and the fishing village of Ginostra are home to the island's only inhabitants. The local beaches of fine lava sand invite you to linger and swim. The short cruise then ends with the return to the Italian mainland. Important: This excursion is weather-dependent and is carried out together with other tour groups. There are up to 300 people on one ship and there is only one tour guide for everyone.

We will then take you to the nearby picturesque village of Belmonte Calabro, which is situated on a unique natural terrace directly above the sea. This village is a small architectural jewel nestled on the back of a rocky hill that resembles a donkey's hump. The village has the shape of a ship pointing towards the sea.
