Our Story

Beara Distillery was founded in 2017 and is situated near Castletownbere on the Beara peninsula, Co Cork, Ireland.

Whiskey and vodka are produced as well as multi award winning Beara Ocean Gins.

When asked, why we thought of opening a distillery here in Beara, we felt that like many of the famous distilleries in Ireland and Scotland, while Beara may be off the beaten track, our distillery does not need to be in an urban environment. In fact, it is the very environment of the remote Atlantic coastline and its landscape that gives Beara products their distinct signature and quality, coupled with the mountain spring water from the hills that are surrounded by the sea.

Beara Black Cask Blend Irish Whiskey

At Beara Distillery, we hand selected individual casks to produce this unique blend of Irish whiskeys that proudly carries the Beara name.

We like to think that the beauty of the peninsula that surrounds us makes its way into our spirits so that each bottle captures a piece of our wild and historical land.

Beara Irish Whiskey is a unique blend of Single Malt and Extra Char Cask Finished Single Grain Irish Whiskeys. It can be enjoyed neat, with ice or with just a splash of water to open up the rich malt and toasted oak flavours. On the nose, Beara Irish Whiskey is a perfect combination of warm welcoming Toasted Oak Vanillins, beautifully balanced with notes of Rich Dark Honey. The result is a long malty finish which fades to a smooth toasted oak. Beara Black Cask Blend is a medium bodied whiskey with Rich Malty Cereals at first, followed with Roasted Hazelnut, a hint of Cloves and Marzipan. A small splash of water makes it the perfect easy-sipping whiskey. A single sip will transport you back in time.

SINGLE GRAIN IRISH WHISKEY

Barrelled and laid down in the Great Northern Distillery, our Single Grain Irish Whiskey is finished in Beara with the infusion of clear spring waters from the Caha Mountains that divide the peninsula and separate Cork and Kerry, before being carefully bottled.

Grain column distilled Irish Whiskey is distilled using maize and a lesser amount of malted barley. The grains are hammer milled, exposing the inside of the grain, to form a grist. The grain then goes through a mashing process. Mashing involves a cooking and conversion stage to produce a wort for fermentation. The wort is fermented for a specific period before distillation. Grain whiskey is distilled in a continuous triple distilled process in large vertical columns. The grain spirit is distilled until an ABV of 94% is reached. Our single grain is then reduced to a cask strength transferred to virgin oak 200 litre casks where it remains until reaching maturity. When our whiskey is ready for bottling it is further reduced to bottling strength.

Tasting Notes

Nose: Beara Single Grain yields a crisp clean alcohol aroma.

On the palate: A sweet vanilla flavour from the oak, backed with a fruity and peppercorn taste.

Finish: This smooth easy drinking spirit lingers on your palate making it a pleasurable experience.
