

Go to market Germany!

The AI based full stack business development service

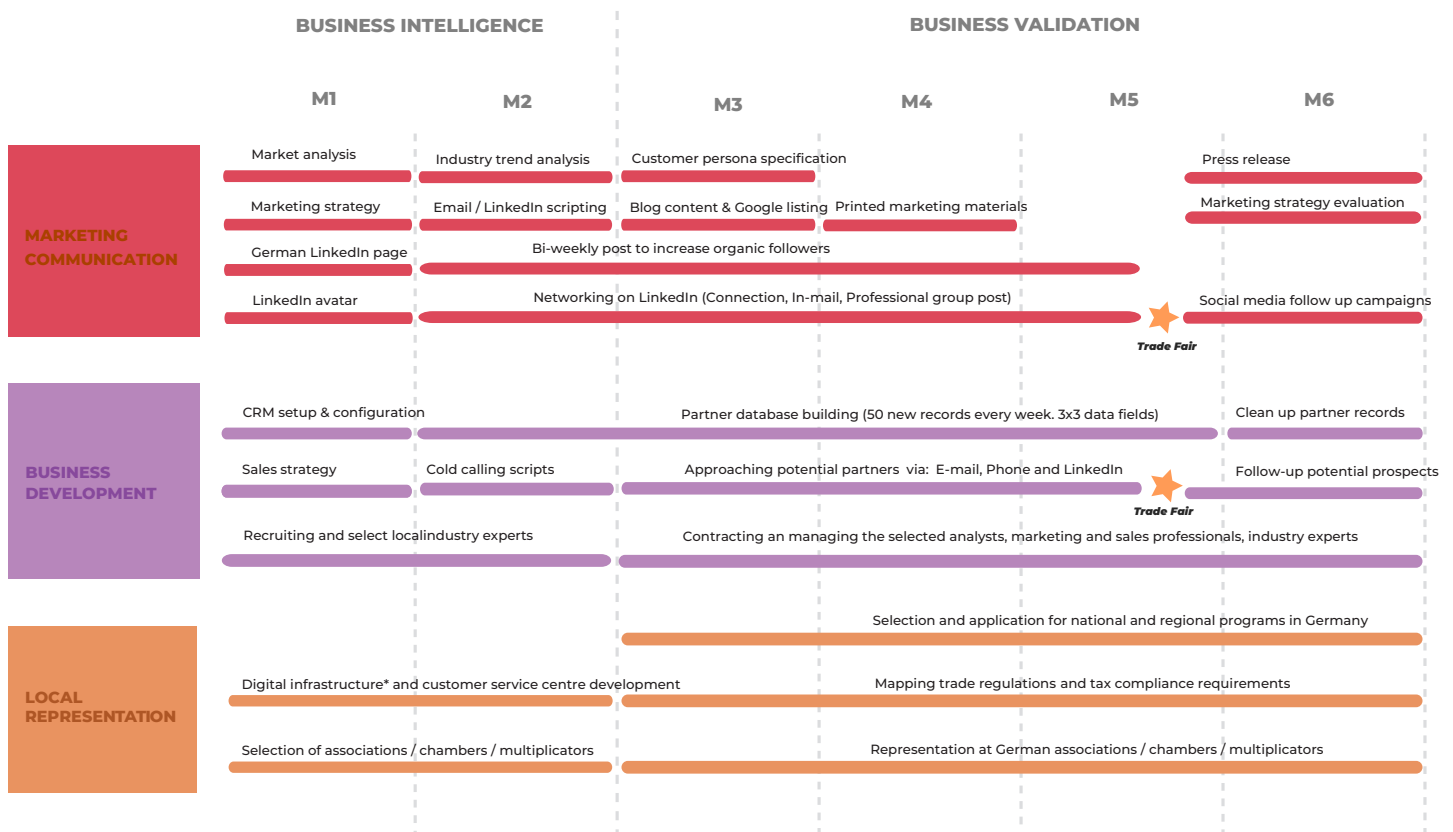

Scale Compass's full-stack B2B platform enables your team to create a comprehensive digital twin of your German subsidiary.

It covers the full spectrum of the local sales & marketing:

- Back-end support is delivered by seasoned local industry experts with in-depth knowledge of the DACH market. In close collaboration with them, we design and implement tailored strategies.
- Front-end services — such as email marketing, cold calling, and key account management — are delivered by an AI driven sales representative team of German professionals.

The platform guides you through a gold-standard business development process illustrated with a GANTT chart over a period of 6 months, in two levels.
