IT talent training and outsourcing services

Save time

The average headhunting and recruitment process takes at least 3 to 4 weeks. It can be critical for your project timelines. The Software engineers (Talent) outsourcing service can be provided within 2 to 3 days (depending on talent availability).

Reduce costs

Headhunting and hiring the employee includes HR, training, administrative, equipment acquiring and office space renting costs, while lease of the talent includes hourly rate cost position only.

Acquire hard-to-get skills

The talent pool with required skill set can be provided – from junior to experienced senior level. We are interested in successful realization of our customers' projects. We are delighted to see our customers succeed, so our consultant will help you to select the appropriate talents.
