Our Valued Clients

The following is a list of our VALUED CLIENTS who we have the privilege to serve, over the years.

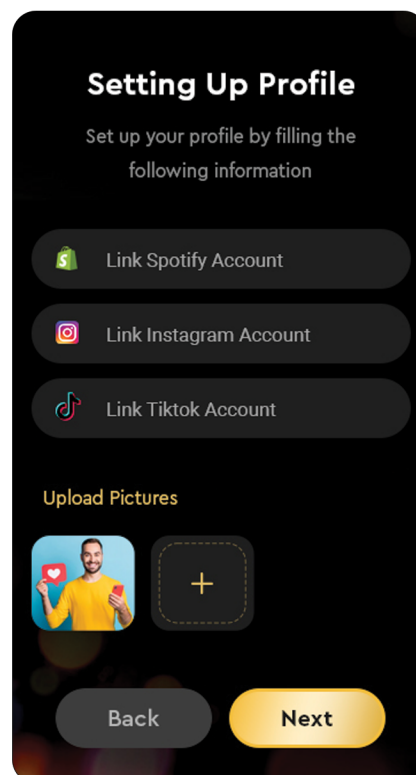

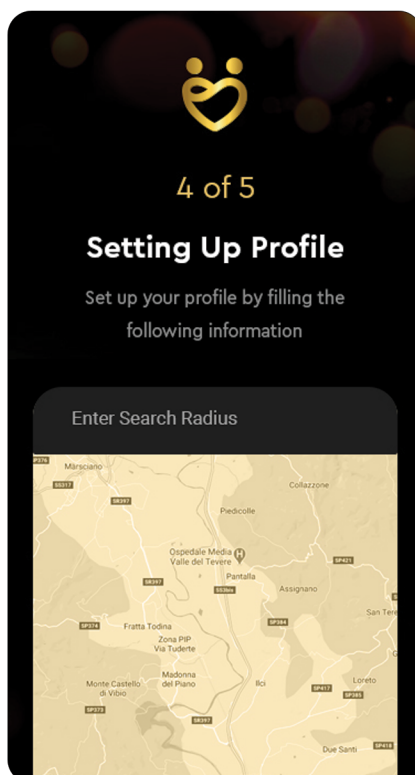

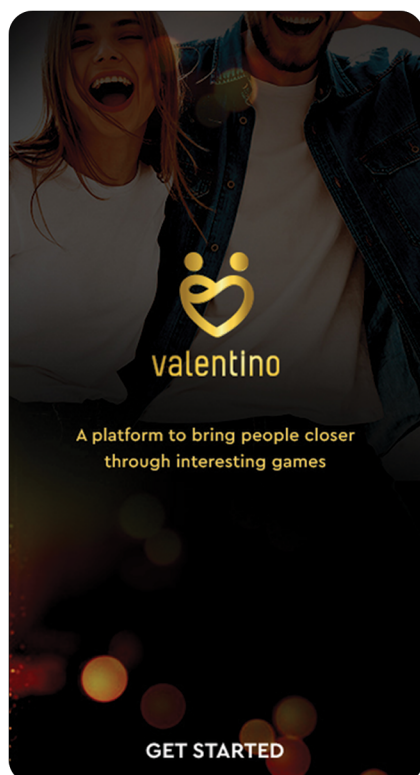

VALENTINO

Alpharages worked with an Italian company to work on a dating application but with a different approach to it which we cannot disclose here for obvious reasons. It will basically help the users to find their match and also help different brands and stakeholders of the application to design their and manage their businesses strategies according to user data and user preferences. The admin panel is developed in Express and Next for the frontend and the API. MongoDB is used as database for storing the data. Mobile application is developed in Flutter.
