Session 3.4 Co-programming Partnerships

Àngels Orduña Cao

Executive director

A.SPIRE

Àngels Orduña is a seasoned EU and international collaboration leader with a proven track record in championing success in technology and business development through multi-partner, multi-country and multidisciplinary collaboration.

With an academic background in International Relations, she has managed and led a number of RDI projects in the EU and Canada in technology areas related to value chain production, and enabling technologies such as ICT, energy, renewables, environment, advanced materials and manufacturing.

She has shown great ability in translating technological concepts into market opportunities, and linking partners' commitment through a win-win perspective. She now runs the SPIRE Association (A.SPIRE), representing the private sector in the SPIRE Public Private Partnership (Sustainable Process Industry through Resource and Energy Efficiency).
