

Pillar 2

Session 2.1 Risk governance and management of innovation

Abdelqader Sumrein

Scientific Officer

European Chemicals Agency and EU Observatory on Nanomaterials (EUON)

Abdelqader Sumrein is a Scientific Officer at the European Chemicals Agency (ECHA), where has been working since 2009. He is the product manager for the European Union Observatory for Nanomaterials (EUON), which aims to collect and disseminate information on the markets and safety of nanomaterials. He holds a MSc. Degree in Applied toxicology from the University of Surrey. Prior to joining ECHA, worked the Mirkin lab at Northwestern University working on the synthesis and applications of coordination polymer nanomaterials. He obtained his Bachelor's degree in chemistry and economics from Middlebury College.

